Crushed while sitting on porch

Death ruled accidental

By Meg Tebo

STAFF WRITER

EDWARDSVILLE — A woman who was struck and killed on her front porch by a car driven by her boyfriend died accidentally, a coroner's jury ruled Wednesday.

Gail Baker was killed Aug. 14 when a car driven by Kevin D. Julius crushed her as she sat on her front porch at 1138 St. Thomas Road in Mitchell. Both resided at the home.

It was ruled that the cause of death was a crushed chest and abdomen "as a consequence of being hit and crushed by a moving automobile."

Baker, 35, was sitting on a lawn chair on the porch when Julius, 28, arrived at the residence and attempted to park his car in front of the home.

He said during testimony that the brakes on the car failed to stop the vehicle as he pumped the brake pedal, and the car jumped onto the 5-inch-high porch and struck Baker, pushing her against an outside wall of the residence. Baker was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

Julius testified he had been helping a neighbor work on another vehicle earlier that evening. As Julius attempted to leave the neighbor's home in his yellow Ford Granada, the brakes failed and he backed into two parked cars.

There was reported to be no damage to those vehicles, so Julius left and drove to the Baker residence, where he attempted to park in his usual spot in front of the building. The brakes again failed, and the car continued forward onto the porch.

Det. Don Bunt of the Madison County Sheriff's Department testified that police had the car's brakes tested by two independent mechanics and both found them faulty. A leaking master cylinder was blamed for the brake failure.

Julius said during his testimony that he had "five or six beers" on the day of the accident and two 10-milligram Valium pills the day before. A blood-alcohol test given about an hour after the accident showed a blood alcohol level of .06, while a breathalyzer test given shortly after the accident showed .08. A reading of .10 is considered legally intoxicated in Illinois.

He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving and using unsafe tires. Det. Bunt testified that assistant State's Attorney Randy Massey said Julius will not be brought to trial on those charges because of a lack of firm evidence in the case.

Family members appeared upset at the verdict. One woman, who identified herself as the victim's sister, told Bunt that she felt Julius should go to trial.

DARE gets grant: $5,000 from state

SPRINGFIELD — Granite City school and civic leaders were to get an unexpected present when they arrived in this city today — a $5,000 grant for the Drug Abuse Resistance Education Committee.

Granite City's DARE is among 10 Illinois community organizations receiving a grant from the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) to provide youth development programs.

The winners were to be announced early today during the end of a three-day DCFS conference. Superintendent Gilbert Walmsley and DARE Committee Chairman and school board member L. Monroe Worthen were expected to be in attendance. The Press-Record/Journal was asked not to disclose the information to DARE Committee members prior to today's conference.

The grants will go to establish programs that help young people develop decision-making skills and an improved sense of self esteem.

The programs will be patterned after a family life enrichment program developed in Edgar County in 1986 and replicated in 14 other communities since then.

DCFS Director Gordon Johnson announced the grants today during the Positive Youth Development Conference.

"These grants are really an investment in the future of Illinois — the young people who will be living and working here in the decades ahead," he said.

"Young people need a sense of self esteem and self respect. They need to know that their communities and their families care about them and stand behind them."

"This knowledge gives them the confidence and courage to say 'no' when pressured to experiment with drugs, alcohol or sex, or when pushed to ignore moral and social values," Johnson said.

Each grant recipient will begin its program with a town meeting to determine the problems youth face in its community and the resources available to meet them, Johnson said.

State settles with Granite City Steel

GRANITE CITY — Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan today announced the settlement of a landfill lawsuit against Granite City Steel.

He was scheduled to make the announcement at a press conference held this morning at the attorney general's regional office in Granite City.

The suit had been brought by Hartigan's office over two landfills the steel mill allegedly had been operating on its property. While the suit was pending, the

Mayor hires street worker

By Mike Myers

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Mayor Von Dee Cruse has abruptly challenged the authority of Street Department Superintendent Mac Warfield by personally hiring the newest department worker.

Cruse sent Mark Whitaker, 22, son of 6th Ward Alderman Judy Whitaker, to Warfield with a letter stating he had already been hired and should start working immediately.

The hiring prompted Warfield to request a closed session at the last City Council meeting. No one who attended the closed session will say exactly what went on inside, but several who attended it described it in terms of a championship bout.

The issue is the latest in a series of controversial developments surrounding street department workers and their relationship with Warfield. Warfield says many of the employees are abusing sick-leave privileges and are the cause for overall poor performance of the department. Some of those same workers, however, accuse Warfield of poor management practices.

At the heart of the latest issue is a letter, signed by City Attorney Mark Goldenberg, stating it is his legal opinion that the mayor is responsible for the hiring and firing of all city employees.

The letter was addressed to Warfield, City Clerk Bob Stevens and Treasurer Gail Valle — the city's elected department heads.

"It's really not that much of an opinion," Gol-denberg said. "It is a statement of what is there in black and white. It is, of course, subject to change by legislative action by the aldermen."

The aldermen took no vote of any kind following the closed session.

Warfield said he would publicly announce his reaction to the policy at a later date.

"I will, my though, that's not the way it has ever been done," he said.

Stevens said Goldenberg researched it well and the law is on the board. "If there is going to be any change at all, I guess it will have to come from the aldermen."

Valle had basically the same reaction as Stevens.

"It's not like the man is going to just walk in an office and say 'This person has to go' or 'I want this person working on this' but overall he is responsible for the city employees," Valle said.

Valle said she talked to the mayor after the letter was sent out and she said she doesn't think the policy is really much of a change.

"After he appointed me treasurer, he talked to me about my replacement (as assistant treasurer)," she said. "I did the interviewing and then went and talked to him before hiring anyone. We worked very well together and basically I think that's the way it's still going to be."

Hiring has always been the mayor's responsibility (See HIRING, Page 8A)

Body found may be boy

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer

MONROE COUNTY — A decomposed body, possibly that of a Granite City boy who jumped from the Merchants Bridge in Venice, was recovered Monday night by the U.S. Coast Guard near the Jefferson Barracks Bridge.

Tommy H. Bates of the 1100 block of 22nd Street jumped from the railroad bridge into the Mississippi River about 1 a.m. Friday, Sept. 1, apparently on a dare made by a man who left the scene after the boy went into the water, witnesses said. His body could not be found.

Petty Officer Michael Holder, U.S. Coast Guard, St. Louis, said Wednesday the recovered body was first noticed Monday by fishermen who notified the Coast Guard.

The body was found south of the Jefferson Barracks Bridge near the mouth of the Meramec River, close to Columbia, Ill. The location is about 20 miles downstream from the Venice bridge, Holder said.

Positive identification of the body has not been made. Monday, County Coroner DeAnn

Pontoon zoning proposal unsettled

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — No decision was reached Tuesday night on a controversial zoning recommendation made by the Zoning Board of Appeals to the Board of Trustees.

The Zoning Board of Appeals had recommended changing zoning from business to single-family residential for 70 acres of village land near Kelly Drive in Arlington Heights.

But shortly after a 75-minute executive session, during which Charles and Brenda Farnley and their attorney, John C. Haynes, reviewed the rezoning proposal with village officials.

At Tuesday's meeting, petitions from nearby residents, opposing the zoning change, were presented.

Three adjacent landowners, Charles L. and Brenda S. Farnley of 23 Kelly Drive, and Tammy Wilson of 435 Kelly Drive, signed a formal objection to the proposed rezoning.

The objectors cited inadequate roads, utilities and sewer service to the property, plus a high water table in the area and increased drainage problems.

Kelly Drive is the only access road into the area, the petition said.

Deputy Village Clerk Mary Rowden said 15 owners of property located within 300 feet of the area proposed for rezoning were notified of the Aug. 19 zoning hearing.

Seventeen other residents who live on Kelly Drive, in the general area of the property, also signed a petition objecting to the development of a 10-acre tract at 22 Kelly Drive.

The overall property consists of a 60-acre parcel and the 10-acre tract, both owned by Charles Luehmann of Fairway Estates. Luehmann sought the rezoning.

Donna Hogan is planning to purchase the property from Luehmann and construct single-family residences, if the change of zoning is approved.

As many as 150 homes could eventually be built in several stages on the 70 acres, if zoning is changed from business to single-family residential, Hogan said recently.

About 25 area residents opposed to the proposed housing development on Kelly Drive, north of the Arlington Heights subdivision, attended an on-site hearing of the Zoning Board on Aug. 19.

The Zoning Board finally reached its recommendation Monday, Rowden said.

Terminal Railroad to help Venice fix street

By Andy Sloring

VENICE — The city will share with the Terminal Railroad Association the cost of repairing a section of McKinley Street south from Broadway after Venice-Madison American Legion Post 387 pulled out of a proposal to split the cost three ways.

The City Council was informed of the Legion's decision Tuesday night by Mayor Byron Echols and it voted to pay an additional $2,004 to cover its half of the Legion's proposed share.

Alderman Silver Franklin wanted to disallow the agreement and made motion to that effect. But Echols pointed out that since McKinley is a city street, it is the city's responsibility to maintain it.

"It's a deal because it's actually 100 percent our responsibility," Echols said.

"My motion still stands," Franklin said.

"It only benefits the bingo people and the railroad," The American Legion holds large bingo sessions weekly at its building, located at McKinley and Broadway, near TTRA yards.

Alderman John Ervin objected to the motion. "Any time somebody says to pay half, it's a good deal. We're still responsible for it," Mayor Echols was reluctant to turn down something the TTRA wanted.

"You've got to realize these people (the railroad) are probably the biggest taxpayers in this community."

The council then voted 4-4 on Franklin's motion. Echols cast the tie-breaking vote against it.

The money for the project will come out of (See VENICE, Page 8A)

Boy charged in burglaries

MADISON — Police believe they have solved 16 burglaries in the city with the arrest last week of a 13-year-old boy, said Chief Charles Bridick.

The five residential break-ins and 11 vehicular burglaries were committed in widely separated parts of Madison between mid-June and the end of August, Bridick said.

The juvenile "bounced back and forth" between several residences, Bridick said.

The boy was transferred Friday to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home in Edwardsville.

Churchich back on job

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchich said he feels great after being several days of hospitalization.

He was recently released from St. Anthony's Hospital in Alton after a six-day stint and returned to work little more than a week ago.

"I feel fine now," Churchich said, "but I didn't feel very good on the Sunday morning I was admitted to the hospital."

Churchich left his home in Alton that Sunday to work on a house he is building near Dorsey when he started feeling dizzy and had trouble focusing, he said.

"I had a high-intensity day on Saturday and even got arrested at the Alton mall for the American Heart Association fund-raising drive. I don't think being arrested or giving the donation did it, but you talk about taking something to heart. I guess I really did."

Churchich attended several other functions the same day.

In addition to that, I forgot to take my medication for high blood pressure that day, but my doctor said he did not think that skipping the medicine one day would cause that severe a problem. It was apparently a combination of factors."

Churchich said he didn't have a heart attack or a stroke.

He said the problem apparently was a combination of high blood pressure and stress.

"Something was wrong because they started me off in the intensive care unit," he said.

Simon vote bucks majority

WASHINGTON — U.S. Sen. Paul Simon last week bucked a huge Senate majority that voted to transfer money from its own operations for placement into a fund to help fight drug use.

Simon, an Illinois Democrat, opposed an amendment that would prohibit Senate mass mailings and redirect the estimated $45 million in savings to helping children born with drug and alcohol addictions.

The Senate voted 83 to 8, with Simon in the minority and nine Senators not voting.

Mass mailings at taxpayer expense by U.S. Senators and U.S. Representatives have come under attack as vehicles for incumbent politicians to get their messages out.

Simon, according to a verbatim transcript in the Congressional Record, said the "politically prudent thing" was to go along with the mass mailing ban.

But he said the ban was wrong because it would serve to stifle the free flow of information. He added that for that very reason he has consistently opposed increases in second-class mail.

Simon said mailing "abuses" should be addressed individually.

Abuse agency receives funding

SPRINGFIELD — Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan has announced that six Madison County agencies will receive a total of $100,640 for their Violent Crime Victims Assistance programs.

Agencies receiving grants include: Alton Police Department, Alton, $11,500; Land of Lincoln Legal Assistance Foundation, Inc., Alton, $15,000; Madison County State's Attorney's Office, Edwardsville, $16,000; Oasis Women's Center, Alton, $17,500; Phoenix Crisis Center, Inc., Granite City, $26,540; and Rape and Sexual Abuse Care Center, Edwardsville, $14,100.

"Not one cent of this comes from the taxpayers. Funding for the Assistance Act comes completely from fines the criminals pay, and will continue to pay, for their despicable acts. The ones who cause the pain will pay for the staff salaries; the new programs or other services provided by these not-for-profit agencies," Attorney General Hartigan said.

"These agencies range from those who help sexually abused children to victims of domestic violence. It's all part of our effort to assist women who are abused and to protect their rights."

The Violent Crime Victims Assistance Act helps create and fund the victim and witness assistance concept. It is funded from fines collected by those convicted in Illinois of a crime of violence, felony or misdemeanor, and for certain offenses listed in the Illinois Vehicle Code.

Traffic accidents down now

SPRINGFIELD — Traffic fatalities for August totaled 122 as a result of 107 accidents, a decrease of 18.1 percent from the 149 deaths in August 1988, according to provisional figures released by the Illinois Departments of Transportation and State Police.

Included in the August totals are 19 pedestrians killed in 18 accidents, 13 persons killed in 12 accidents involving motorcycles, five bicyclists killed in five accidents, and five persons killed in four railroad crossing accidents.

The provisional total for 1,045 deaths for 1989 is a decrease of 8.6 percent when compared to the 1,143 deaths for the same period of 1988. The department's latest provisional figures on travel indicate travel increased by 2.2 percent for the same time period.

Battery, assault are charged after disturbance call

Granite City

Robert A. Allen, 29, of the 2000 block of Hildebrand Avenue, Cloverleaf Addition, was arrested Sept. 11 and booked for battery and aggravated assault. Police reported responding to a disturbance call at the home of Wanda J. Allen, 27, in the 2900 block of West 20th Street and finding Robert Allen on the front porch.

Inside the house, police said, Wanda Allen told them Robert had entered the home while she was sleeping, started yelling and then struck her on the mouth. When police returned to the porch and told Robert Allen he was under arrest he allegedly picked up what appeared to be a table leg and appeared to be poised to strike the police officers. After being told to drop the table leg, he did so and was handcuffed and taken to the police station.

Burglar gets TV, stereo

A 21-inch color television, a portable stereo worth $100 and two end tables with glass tops valued at $400 were among the property taken in a burglary reported Sept. 8 by JoAnn Toolen of the 2000 block of Washington Avenue.

Refrigerator burglary

A copper-colored side-by-side refrigerator valued at $600 and a storm window worth $175 were taken from a residence in the 2300 block of East 23rd Street, it was reported Sept. 8 by Hoyal Brooks. The rear basement door was kicked open to get inside the dwelling.

Contempt warrant served

Danny E. Caughron, 31, of the 2400 block of Iowa Street was picked up at the Madison Police Station on Sept. 8 and transferred to Granite City, where he was served a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of driving while his license was revoked. He posted $102 bail and was released.

Parked vehicles entered

Two tool belts and a set of screwdrivers were taken from the bed of a truck parked at the home of Cliff Anderson in the 3300 block of East 25th Street, he reported Sept. 9. A second vehicle at the residence also was entered, by breaking a vent window.

Purse with $60 missing

Judy Buckingham of the 2100 block of Lee Avenue reported Sept. 9 that she inadvertently left her purse at the Nameoki Cinema on Nameoki Road and it was gone when she returned to retrieve it. In the purse were $113 worth of food stamps and $80 cash, she said.

Scanner, shirts gone

A police scanner valued at $400 and 10 Harley Davidson shirts worth $100 were stolen from the home of Larry L. Dunn in the 2200 block of Bryan Avenue, he reported Sept. 8.

$1,146 television stolen

In a burglary at the mobile home of John McDaniel in Park Towne West, an intruder kicked open the front door and stole a 27-inch color television valued at $1,146 and a computer worth $100 on Sept. 8.

Parked automobile looted

Ferri L. Thompson, 23, of the 2000 block of Lee Avenue reported Sept. 10 that a burglar had broken into her car parked near her home and taken a diaper bag and two stereo speakers, knobs.

Police file four charges

After seeing a car allegedly being operated with one headlamp, traveling north on Maryville Road, an officer stopped the driver, Robert C. Gibson, 21, of the 400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes at Clark Avenue at 2 a.m. Sept. 8.

Gibson was charged with driving while his license was suspended, improper lighting (one headlamp) and illegal transportation of alcohol.

A passenger in the vehicle, Darrek Ray Parker, 24, of the 2600 block of Lincoln Avenue was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol. Both men appeared on notices to appear for hearings on Oct. 13.

Burglar obtains pistol

Robin E. Tappel, 25, of the 2600 block of Kirkpatrick Homes reported Sept. 10 that a burglar had broken into her apartment and taken a .25-caliber semi-automatic pistol valued at $70, a 13-inch color television valued at $250 and a number of video and audio cassettes valued at a total of $30.

Arrested on 2 charges

George Arthur Schmitz, 21, of the 3800 block of Pontoon Road was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct when arrested in the 1700 block of Spring Avenue on Sept. 8.

Officers went to that location in response to a disturbance and possible fight in the street and were told by a man and woman there that the two were trying to get Schmitz to go home.

Schmitz allegedly began yelling profanity and, when told he was under arrest, began shoving and kicking at the officers.

Arrest driver, passenger

Following a traffic stop at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues at 1:20 a.m. Sept. 9, Rita Y. Hagen, 38, of the 1200 block of Madison Avenue, Madison, was charged with driving while her license was suspended. She also was served a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of theft of labor or services and was released after posting $204 bail.

Battery by man alleged

Richard Dennis Womack, 27, of the 1900 block of Grand Avenue was booked for battery Sept. 8. Joyce Mars, 32, of the 1900 block of Grand Avenue alleged Womack came to her front yard and struck her in the face with his fist, causing a laceration to her nose.

Upon going to Womack's residence to make the arrest, officers alleged Angela Darlene Womack, 21, of the 1900 block of Grand Avenue showed defiance.

When she allegedly refused to be quiet and was told she was under arrest, Angela Womack ran into a hallway where she was chased and caught by officers, who charged her with disorderly conduct.

Mars was taken by a relative to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

Richard and Angela Womack each posted $32 bail.

Woman interrupts burglar

A Madison woman started a man burglarizing her home and chased him out the front door, throwing and hitting him with a chair on the way out at 11:48 p.m. Sept. 8.

A noise awakened Tina Jackson of the 1800 block of Fifth Street and she went downstairs into the dining room where she saw a tall, thin man bending over the television.

She startled the man, who shoved her aside and ran toward the front door. At that point, Jackson picked up and threw a child's rocking chair at the intruder, hitting him in the back as the man fled through the door.

A radar detector taken from the home was found on the lawn along with a video cassette recorder, police said.

The burglar was between 17 and 25 years old with shoulder-length hair. He had a baseball cap backward on his head.

Burglar removes door

In a burglary at the home of Gary Jones in the 1800 block of Edwardsville Road, the intruder removed a door from its hinges between the garage and kitchen. The garage was entered through a window. Missing from the residence was a remote control video cassette recorder.

Several hear shots fired

Police received several telephone calls relating to shots being fired from a vehicle at 11 p.m. Sept. 7 in the 1600 block of Market Street. Several residents of the Grenzer Homes reported hearing the shots and said they may have originated from an orange-colored car occupied by four men. The auto sped from the area, heading west on Market Street. The shots may have been fired into the air, one person said.

Madison

$30 Daisy rifle stolen

A pump-action Daisy BB rifle valued at $30 was stolen from a storage shed at the home of John Flester in the 1100 block of Reynolds Street, he reported Sept. 8. A lock was tried to get inside the shed.

Stereo, speakers taken

An AM-FM stereo radio and cassette player valued at $250 and two speakers worth $500 were taken in the burglary of a pickup truck at the home of Brad Arnold in the 1800 block of Sixth Street, he reported Sept. 6. The truck's bed cover also was removed and the glove box was ransacked.

Station wagon looted

An officer on patrol saw a station wagon parked on Plum Street, between Greenwood and Reynolds streets, with the driver's door open and the dome light on. Items were strewn about inside the vehicle. The officer located the owner, Don W. Kary of the 900 block of Greenwood, who said three pocket knives and a beige container holding miscellaneous items were missing.

Trespassing charged

Angela Lynn Davis, 22, of East St. Louis was arrested and charged with criminal trespass on property Sept. 5 after she was told on several occasions to leave the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203, but then returned. Authorities said. She was released pending an appearance in the St. Clair County Court, Belleville, on Oct. 9.

Elks 'September Fest' set

GRANITE CITY — Music, carnival rides and food will highlight the first annual "September Fest" to be sponsored this weekend by Granite City Elks Lodge 1663.

The public is invited to attend the three-day event scheduled to take place on the grounds of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church at Pontoon and Johnson roads, starting at 5 p.m. Friday.

Games, food and beverage booths, carnival rides and other activities attractive to both youngsters and adults will be featured at the festival, organizers said.

Musical entertainment will include live performances by the "Tapestry" band from 8 p.m. to midnight on Friday and a rock and roll band during the same time period on Saturday.

"September Fest" activities will be operating from 5 p.m. until midnight Friday; 11 a.m. until midnight Saturday; and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Swim nets $1,000 for sclerosis

GRANITE CITY — The Lap Swim for Multiple Sclerosis netted more than $1,000 for the Multiple Sclerosis Society of St. Louis, local co-chairmen Charles Douglas and Carol Wall reported.

Swimmers ranged in age from 5-year-old Sarah Dettwiler to 71-year-old Nick Vasileff.

Participants swam as many laps as desired, collecting donations from pledges for the laps completed. The swimmers swam from 10 laps (250 yards) to 200 laps (3 miles).

Other swimmers included 8-year-old David Butkovich, 13-year-old Jennifer Brummitt, Michael Ivie, Cheryl Layton and Charles Douglas.

"Next year we hope to hold the swim earlier in the year, sign up more participants and set a goal of $5,000," Douglas said.

Corn plastic bills become law

Two bills supported by State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, which seek to encourage the use of biodegradable corn-based plastics have been signed into law.

"Biodegradable plastics will not only help relieve Illinois' landfill shortage, but will also provide a growing market for Illinois agricultural products," Wolf said.

House Bill 1339 requires the Department of Energy and Natural Resources to study the degradability of corn-based plastics and sets standards for the products.

"This bill was based on recommendations from the National Conference of State Legislatures," Wolf related. "It provides for the study and evaluation of these products and the development of landfill practices that take advantage of this new technology."

A second bill, Senate Bill 806, requires the Department of Central Management Services, which takes care of most state purchasing, to identify and encourage the use of these products by state agencies.

"I believe the state should take the lead in using these products whenever possible," Wolf added.

"These bills will move Illinois into the forefront of promotion of these modern plastics, which will be good for all our citizens."

Blood drive Sept. 18

The American Red Cross will be conducting the second blood drive of September on Monday, Sept. 18. The drive will be sponsored by the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue in Granite City.

The drive will be held in the Fellowship Hall at the church from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m.

The Red Cross is urging healthy adults 17 years of age or older and weighing at least 110 pounds to donate blood.

Free diabetes class at SEMC

There will be a free Take Charge of Your Diabetes class at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, on Tuesday, Sept. 19, from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall on the ground floor.

The class will include a general overview of diabetes presented by a diabetes nurse educator. It will include symptoms, management, exercise, testing and complications of diabetes.

A registered dietitian will present nutrition information related to diabetes, including information on sweeteners, fiber, label reading and fast foods. A pharmacist will speak on medications, including insulin and oral agents.

Pre-registration is required. For more information, or to register, the number is 798-3935.

Economic conference broadcast

A day-long Regional Economic Conference, to be held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn, will be broadcast on WRYT, 1080 AM, Friday, Sept. 15.

The conference, sponsored by U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, has drawn some of the nation's most influential leaders to discuss the economic future of Southwestern Illinois.

Southwestern Illinois has enormous economic potential, but we must plan ahead to enhance our strength for the future," Costello said.

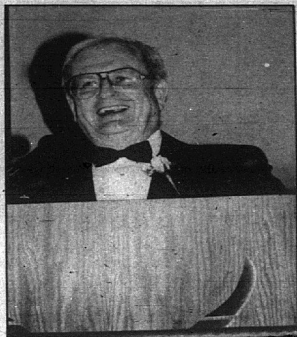

WRYT plans to carry speeches by Costello, Rep. William Gray, the House majority whip, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville President Earl Lazerson.

WRYT will also provide reports on other speakers, including Economist Wallace Stegman of the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, Gregory Baise, secretary of Transportation, and Les Sterman, executive director of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

An estimated 200 to 300 business, labor and government leaders are expected to attend the conference.

Costello said he is optimistic about the future of the region.

"I think we have a lot of things going for us," he said. "There is a lot that needs to be done, but we have a lot to be proud of."

De La Roche honor Simon, Wolf, Konzen

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon and state Rep. Sam Wolf were presented with De La Roche Awards on Saturday for their efforts on health care funding issues and other concerns facing the Quad City area.

And a surprise third recipient was the toastmaster, local attorney Leo Konzen, vice chairman of the board of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

SEMC's biennial De La Roche black-tie dinner was hosted by the Sisters of Divine Providence, owners of the hospital. The event was held in The Living World Center at the St. Louis Zoo.

Simon, long known for championing the interests of working families and others needing a voice in national affairs, congratulated the medical center on its leadership in providing quality health care to all.

"I could give this award to any one of you," he said, addressing the audience made up of SEMC associates, volunteers, medical staff, board members, and community and business leaders. "You have shown your concern for the community and its need for health care time and time again."

Wolf was commended for his active community work, his loyalty to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and his effectiveness in the General Assembly.

"He has always been there when his constituents needed him," said SEMC President Ted Eilerman, announcing the award.

Konzen was honored for his commitment to the Quad City area and his hours of service to various community organizations and SEMC.

It was related that Konzen's life "has always been influenced by health care. His father and mother, a physician-nurse team, served the health care needs of many families in the Wood River/Alton area."

His wife, Pat, is a nurse and currently is a valued volunteer at the medical center. His eldest son, Kevin, is a specialist in internal medicine, on staff at St. Elizabeth. Sons Brian, a local attorney, and Michael, an architect, are both active in the community and supporters of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Konzen began his service at SEMC in 1969, assisting the Sisters of Divine Providence in serving the unique needs of the area as a volunteer on the Lay Advisory Board. He became the first Lay Board member to move up to a position on the medical center's board of directors in 1973, helping to set policy and making decision in cooperation with SEMC administrators, associates and advisory and fact-finding committees.

In 1976, Konzen was named vice chairman of the board. He also became a member of the Long-Range Planning Committee. In 1978, he was made chairman of the board of directors. The medical center during this time was expanding and evolving in response to increased health care needs in the community.

Konzen researched the needs of the community and encouraged the board to establish additional programs and services. He also promoted the medical center and the services it offers, the gathering was told.

In 1980, he retired as board chairman and assumed the chairmanship of the Quality Assurance Committee, a group formed to ensure quality patient care through cooperation between physicians, administrators and associates. He is also a member of the Joint Conference Committee, serving as a liaison between the board of directors and the medical staff.

Konzen's hours of service to the community were noted: "He has received several awards for service to the Tri-City Area United Way."

A 1985 Service award was received from the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

The Health Care Award from the St. Louis Metropolitan Hospital Association was awarded to him in 1968.

Following presentation of the De La Roche awards, Community Service awards for 15 or more years of service on the medical staff at SEMC were presented to: Dr. Shafique Ahmad, Dr. Reza Ashraf, Dr. Prasanna Kumar, Dr. Willy Morgan, Dr. Athanasios Nicolaidis, Dr. Kamubhai Patel, Dr. Kraisorn Punjasthikul, Dr. Abdul Razzaq and Dr. Xamnan Tulyasathien.

Service awards for 15 or more years of service on the Advisory Board were presented to: Don Adams, president of Granite City Glass Co.; Helen Berghoff, past president of the SEMC Auxiliary; and Joyce Scharader, coordinator of the United Christian Foundation.

State DAR regent coming to area

Rosalie Clary of Winnetka, Ill., state regent of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution, will make her official visit to three local DAR chapters at a dinner meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 19.

The joint meeting of Drusilla Andrews (Granite City), Edwardsville and Winnetka Edwards (Alton) chapters will be held at Jerry's Cafeteria in Granite City. Clary will be the program speaker.

Illinois joins the National Society in celebrating its centennial year and Clary's topic will be "1890-1990: Illinois Daughters Lead the Way."

Previous to her election as state regent, Clary served as vice regent of the Illinois organization, and was state chairman of the Children of the American Revolution committee. She recently served, by appointment, on the national level as vice chairman of the program committee.

Clary is a professional lecturer, and formerly taught at Loyola University. Her many activities in leadership capacities include Scouting, genealogy, historical society and Alumnae Panhellenic. She is a member of Mayflower Descendants and Colonial Dames of America.

Brazil travels to be recounted

The United Methodist Churches of Granite City and Madison invite you to hear Evelyn Taylor Cain, a United Methodist missionary, who has served with her husband in Brazil for the past eight years.

She is in the United States for one year and is serving as the mission interpreter for the area. She will be speaking at the Trinity United Methodist Church at 25th and Henry streets at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 17. A potluck will begin at 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall.

While in Brazil, both she and her husband served churches in the Northeast Conference of the Methodist Church as well as several positions in community centers, camps and in the Bishop's office.

The public is cordially invited to attend both the potluck and the service of worship.

Edwardsville hosts chapter gathering

On Aug. 29, the Edwardsville City Council of Beta Sigma Phi sorority hosted a salad buffet at the Sunset Hills Country Club for chapters from Collinsville, Edwardsville, Troy and Granite City to "kick-off" the beginning of the 1989-90 sorority year.

Following dinner a representative from each chapter in attendance presented a synopsis of their planned social, service and cultural activities for the year ahead.

The Upsilon Omega Chapter from Edwardsville provided the entertainment: a one-ring circus. Door prizes were given to those having their names drawn from a napkin and then the evening was brought to a close with the sorority's closing ritual and then the Mitzvah.

Peg Brackett, Evelyn Tolliver and Imogene Forrest attended from the Granite City Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter.

GOSPEL IN SONG: Word of Life Tabernacle will be sponsoring singing at Granite City's Wilson Park featuring Love Expression. The event will take place at 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 17, by the pool area.

Darlene Lakin
Lakin

Darlene J. (Fenton) Lakin, 63, of Granite City died at 8:07 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 12, 1989, at St. John's Mercy Medical Center in St. Louis, Mo., where she had been hospitalized one day after being stricken at her home.

Mrs. Lakin was born Oct. 24, 1925, in Sorrento, Ill., and resided in Granite City for 46 years. She was a homemaker, of the Methodist faith, and belonged to the Unbroken Circle singing group in Sorrento.

Survivors include her husband, Tracy Lakin, whom she married Oct. 23, 1945, in Granite City; a son, Larry Lakin of Granite City; two daughters, Vicki Hogan of Granite City and Doreen Klekamp of Hoffman Estates, Ill.; two brothers, Herman Fenton of Granite City and George Fenton of Litchfield; two sisters, Mrs. James (Doris) Mount of Granite City and Mrs. Ralph (Nola Mae) Herring of Florissant, Mo.; and three grandchildren.

Visitation will be held today from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, where a 10 a.m. service will be held Friday, with the Rev. Elmer Fenton and the Rev. Robert Kirkham officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates near Edwardsville.

Foreshee

Patsy Ann (Moran) Foreshee, 35, of Madison was pronounced dead at her home by Madison County Deputy Coroner Mark Scott at 5:30 a.m. today, Sept. 14, 1989. She had been ill two years.

Mrs. Foreshee was born in Fulton, Ky., and resided in Madison for 34 years.

She was of the Protestant faith. Among the survivors are a daughter, Patricia Ann Foreshee; and two sons, Roger Dale and Joseph Brian Foreshee, all at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.B. (Annie) Moran of Madison; two brothers, James and Claude Allan Moran, both of Madison; and a sister, Mrs. Thomas (Norma) Reynolds of Granite City.

Visitation will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. Friday at Warner Chapel for Funerals, 3939 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, where services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be at Valley View Cemetery, Edwardsville.

Ridings

James L. "Red" Ridings, 65, of Granite City died at 9:50 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 13, 1989, at DePaul Hospital in St. Louis. He had been ill since July 16 and a patient the same length of time.

Mr. Ridings was born Nov. 18, 1920, in Tennessee Ridge, Tenn., and was a lifelong resident of Granite City.

He retired from Granite City Steel, where he was employed as a millwright for 42 years. After retiring, he worked at Family Furniture in Madison.

He was a member of Masonic Lodge 877 and the Low Twelve Club and a Navy veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Hazel (Cochran) Ridings, whom he married in 1937; one son, James E. Ridings of Granite City; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Pat) Ray of Granite City and Mrs. Andy (Debra) Economy of Madison; three sisters, Mrs. Bud (Mary) Rapp and Mrs. Buster (Mary) Cook, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Ethel Sykes of Greenville, Miss.; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Visitation will begin today from 5 to 8 p.m. and continue Friday from 5 to 8 p.m. at Irwin Chapel, 3660 Maryville Road, where funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. with the Rev. Carl Watkins and the Rev. Elwin Wilkinson officiating. Burial will be at Valley View Garden of Memory Cemetery, Edwardsville.

Mrs. Witt was born Nov. 6, 1938, in Granite City. She was employed for 18 years at Granite City Steel, where she was an executive secretary. She retired recently due to illness.

She was a member of the Granite City Steel Management Club, Eden United Church of Christ in Edwardsville and a vice president of the Church Council. She graduated in 1960 from Edwardsville High School.

Survivors include her husband, Bill Witt, and her son, another Granite City resident, Ronald M. Highlander of Collinsville; her sister, Myra Campbell of Edwardsville.

Visitation will be held today from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Webster Funeral Home, 304 N. Main St. in Edwardsville. Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Eden United Church of Christ, 903 N. Second St., Edwardsville, with the Rev. Wesley Bornemann officiating. Burial will be at St. Boniface Cemetery in Edwardsville. A family suggests memorials to Eden Church or the American Cancer Society.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mildred (Pfeiffer) Straychek; a son, Carl Straychek Jr. of LeGrange, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Philip (Pat) Cuvar of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Sophie Svoboda of Granite City and Mrs. Jim (Helen) Harasky of East St. Louis; four grandchildren; four great-grandchildren and nephews and nieces.

Graveside services were conducted by the Rev. Marvel Dubois on Sept. 5 at Lakewood Memorial Park near LeGrange.

Fry

Ralph Franklin Fry, 64, of Jackson, Mo., formerly of Madison, died Thursday, Sept. 7, 1989, at his home of an apparent heart attack. He had been in ill health for 2 1/2 years.

Born May 28, 1925, in Manchester, Ill., he attended Madison schools and enlisted in the U.S. Army in World War II upon his graduation from high school in 1943.

He received 12 medals including the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart and the Bronze Battle Stars. He was honored for single-handedly eliminating an enemy machine gun nest during combat in Italy.

After his wartime service, he attended the University of California at Los Angeles and worked from 1949-63 in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration program. He also worked for Dow Chemical, Parker Aircraft and Surfside Pools.

Mr. Fry was a former professional baseball pitcher. A golfer, he was a member of Kimberland Country Club in Jackson, VFW Post 3838 in Jackson, the Eagles in Sikeston and American Legion Post 158 in Cape Girardeau.

Preceding him in death were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. (Edna) Fry, and two brothers, Granite City Alderman Richard Thomas Fry and George Steeter Fry.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Bill (Diana) Coomer of Jackson and Terri Fry of St. Louis; one brother, Carl Fry of Greenville, Ill.; and two sisters, Gladys Phelps of Granite City and Mrs. Art (Addy) Cates of Doniphan, Mo.

Funeral services were conducted Sept. 10 at McCombs Chapel of Memories in Jackson by the Rev. Bill Coomer. Burial was at St. John Cemetery in Granite City.

Stotz

Kelly Stotz, 25, of Granite City died at 2 p.m. Monday, Sept. 11, 1989, at home after an illness of 10 months.

July 2, 1964, he was a lifetime resident of Granite City. A college student, he was a member of the Southern Illinois University at Carbondale's Court Chorus. He was of the Protestant faith.

Survivors include his father, Norman Stotz of Granite City, and a sister, Rene Zalanowski of Arnold, Mo.

He had preceded in death in 1976 by his mother, Doris (Hill) Stotz.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Thomas Memorial Mortuary in Granite City, with the Rev. Don DeJarnett officiating. Burial was at St. John Cemetery in Granite City. The family suggests memorials to Our Place, 301 S. Illinois St. in Belleville.

Hiring

By Cruse said, adding that "out of respect to office holders and department heads, I will always work with people on hiring."

He said a new clerk was just hired in the City Clerk's office and he and Stevens went over the list of applicants together.

"But with the Street Department, I have a different relationship with the superintendent of streets," Cruse said.

Cruse said that when he was first elected mayor, Warfield would come and talk to him about openings at the Street Department. But that stopped happening, Cruse said, and he doubts Warfield has made the best choices.

Landfill

company got a permit for one of the landfills.

Under terms of the settlement, the company will make an $8,000 payment to the Environmental Protection Trust Fund. It will also eliminate the second landfill or move the waste stored there to the landfill for which it has a permit.

"This case points out a significant problem with the provision of the Environmental Protection Act which allows companies to operate waste disposal sites on their own property," Hartigan said.

"That provision was clearly intended only for small operations, which could dispose of small amounts of trash in an environmentally sound manner."

Hartigan said the vagueness of the law could result in more

Body

Stumpf said Wednesday.

The body was badly decomposed, the coroner said. She confirmed the body was a young male clad in blue soccer shorts and multicolored loafers.

Tommy Batey, 16, was wearing similar clothing and shoes when he jumped from the railroad bridge during a swimming party with friends at the Venice riverfront, witnesses told Venice police.

An autopsy was performed on the recovered body and foul play had been ruled out, Stumpf said Wednesday.

Pontoon

The meeting was recessed until tonight at 7 o'clock, but officials are unsure if Jensen will have his legal opinion ready to discuss the zoning matter.

Two issues still remain on the agenda, however. Business will focus on a working agreement between the village and Teamsters Local 525, which will represent Pontoon Beach police officers. It is the first union contract for the village.

Also to be discussed is an Arlington Heights area annexation request by Jerry Lilley.

Trivia

The slogan for Karo Syrup, made by Corn Products Refining Inc., is "Great Spread for Daily Bread." Corn Products Refining was the predecessor of the Union Starch Plant in West Granite.

"After what's been happening there, I think about the last two years I think I have no choice but to exercise — to fulfill my obligation — my duty," Judy Whitaker and Cruse both said there are no backroom deals attached to the hiring of Mark Whitaker.

"He is a good kid who is a hard worker and will be, and already is, an asset to the Street Department," she said.

"All I ever hope or want when I hire someone is for them to do a good job," Cruse said.

"What could I possibly ask Judy to do that she is not already doing — ask her to continue to be a good alderman?"

legal cases occurring, involving "companies disposing of thousands of cubic yards of chemical wastes without anyone knowing about it or monitoring the potential hazards."

"My office is looking at ways to close this loophole through legislation, so that we can prevent this type of threat to the environment."

The settlement calls for the Illinois EPA to monitor the landfill to ensure it is being properly maintained and does not pose a risk to the environment.

Hartigan was also expected this morning to announce developments in two other lawsuits against regional industry. One is a settlement of a lawsuit, the second is the filing of a suit. Details on those developments were unavailable.

A forensic pathologist is working on the case, she said. Dental records of the missing boy were provided by his family Tuesday, the coroner said.

"Until we are in a position to say for sure, we do not want to say it is Tommy. This would be the terrible thing to do to the family."

"We will wait for the toxicology and forensic reports to be completed before making a positive identification," Stumpf said.

An inquest will be scheduled at a later date, the coroner said.

Illinois Motor Fuel Tax funds the city receives.

On Oct. 1 of Post 307 said the post is still negotiating with TRRA to include lowering the road base by four inches, at the village's expense, as part of the project. This step is needed in order to prevent flooding of the Post's parking lot, the official said, and Post 307 is still considering a three-way split of costs if that provision is included.

Living Every Day

President, Thomas Mortuaries Ltd.

HELPING MAKE ONE OF LIFE'S MAJOR DECISIONS

As we are faced with each major situation in life, we seldom sit down and all of our options and then act accordingly, choosing the option that best suits that situation. When we encounter legal problems we seek the professional guidance of an attorney and when our health fails us we consult with our physician and take his direction.

However most of us leave one of life's most agonizing and confusing experiences to chance; or worse, we put it square on the shoulders of those we love us, usually at a time when they are least able to cope with it. I am talking about the planning of our funeral.

For whatever reason, we seldom sit down and think about what will happen if we die. But if you stop and think about it, someone will assume a very large responsibility. Would they know your wishes? Would they know them, would they be in a proper frame of mind to carry them out?

At Thomas Mortuaries Ltd. there is a program that allows you to relieve your loved ones of that heavy responsibility. That program is prearrangement. At Thomas, prearrangement is not one program, but several. Because each family situation is different, we at Thomas Mortuaries have prearrangement plans tailored to meet each specific need. Prearrangement allows you to make this final important decision in the same calm, rational manner that has marked your other important decisions.

Prearrangement assures that your funeral will be honored the way you want it to be. Prearrangement can be as easy as making a call. Communication with your loved ones concerning your wishes is an important first step in prearrangement.

Next consultation with a caring professional will allow you to become acquainted with the advantages of prearrangement. At Thomas we counsel and guide you with your arrangements, we never attempt to make a decision for you.

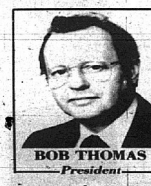

Should you desire more information about our prearrangement plans, please call our office.

Lamaze classes available here

The Obstetrics Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., is offering classes in the Lamaze method of birthing for expectant fathers and mothers during the last three months of pregnancy.

Classes are provided as a community service and meet in the prenatal classroom, on the second floor of SEMC's Going Strong Wellness Center, 2103 Iowa St., across from the medical center.

The six-week series of classes includes relaxation and breathing techniques, discussion of labor and delivery, medications, Caesarean sections, an introduction to parenting and breastfeeding, and a tour of the OB Department. Preregistration is required.

Tuesday sessions will begin on Sept. 19. Wednesday sessions will begin Sept. 20 and Thursday sessions Sept. 21. All sessions will meet from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Those parents who have had the Lamaze class within the past two years and are expecting another child should plan to attend the first evening of the Lamaze class, a spokesman said. An instructor will assist in determining which of the other classes should be attended.

For more information or to register, the SEMC Obstetrics Department can be called at 798-3040.

Helpers sought by association

The American Lung Association of Illinois South West Region, serving St. Clair, Madison, Clinton, Bond, Calhoun and Jersey counties, needs volunteers to assist with a variety of services and events.

The American Lung Association is the oldest not-for-profit voluntary health agency in the United States. Founded in 1904 to combat tuberculosis, the association has expanded its services to include education and research about all forms of lung disease, including emphysema, asthma and lung cancer.

Volunteers are needed to help plan events to increase people's awareness of the importance of taking care of the lungs. Also, volunteers could assist with clerical work, giving presentations to school children and conducting fund raising.

For more information, persons may call Karen Brailow at 692-0585 or 345-2468.

Organic farming topic on Sept. 20

"Organic Farming" will be the presentation by organic farmer Erwin Wein and by Beatrice Stegeman at a public meeting of the Earth Day Committee at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 20, at St. John's Methodist Church across the street from the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Jensen of Granite City have announced they hope to "adopt" a Granite City area highway as a September project for Earth Day. They will pick up litter along the road-side.

Ravanelli's, Medicare-Glaser expanding

Both Ravanelli's Restaurant and the Medicare-Glaser pharmacy are significantly expanding their businesses in the Central Plaza Shopping Center, formerly American Village Shopping Center.

Medicare-Glaser is quadrupling its store to 8,000 square feet and Ravanelli's is doubling its size to accommodate 200 patrons.

The drug store expansion will allow Medicare-Glaser to offer a full line of products and services that are available at all of its large drug stores in the metropolitan St. Louis area. Gerry Welken, president of Medicare-Glaser and its parent corporation, SuperRx, said, "The expansion of our pharmacy in Granite City and company-wide store remodeling projects we started earlier this summer are examples of our commitment to our customers."

"A larger store in Granite City will provide us the opportunity to better serve the public and offer the full range of professional, health-related products and services such as cholesterol screenings and home health care needs." The store has already expanded its operation in the former banquet room of Ravanelli's, although the restaurant's take-out facility is still located on the east side of the building.

Ravanelli's is expanding westward into the former Central Bank temporary offices adjacent to the present dining room. The expansion will be for banquet facilities to seat 100.

"The banquet room will be available for daytime and evening private parties and functions, but we will use the area as an overflow for our dining room, if it has not been previously booked," Frank Ravanelli, owner of the restaurant, said.

"We're also doubling the size of our kitchen to handle the extra dinner business and a catering facility for the banquet room," he said.

The Baskin-Robbins ice cream shop, located between the two businesses, will be unaffected by the expansion except for the remodeling of the facade of the entire building.

INTEGRITY... QUALITY... COURTESY... VALUE... STYLE... DISCOVER THE DIFFERENCE AT DILLARD'S

The Gradys: father, Tom; sons Kevin and Keith; and mother, Melba.

Double the love: Granite City mother's quest to see that her retarded twins live decent lives finally pays off

By Andy Slering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Melba Grady has thick files on her twin sons, Kevin and Keith, 29, documenting their progress over the years — or their seeming lack of it. Her sons are mentally retarded.

A 1985 evaluation of Keith by a counselor at a sheltered workshop was heavy with "cannots": "Cannot count money. Cannot identify basic survival signs. Cannot add or subtract. Cannot tell time past the hour. Cannot count items past 20."

The counselor recommended institutionalization.

"They were tested throughout school," Melba Grady said. "It was always the same types of things."

"One psychologist really upset me. He was always saying never to let them near machinery of any kind."

They appeared destined for a life of total dependence — possibly incarceration. If they were to work, it would have been at the simplest of jobs in a sheltered workshop.

Melba Grady wasn't having it. She hangered and cajoled school and state officials on behalf of the twins. She worked tirelessly with Kevin and Keith to improve what skills they had.

Today, both Kevin and Keith have drivers' licenses. Today, they both hold regular jobs, at the Adam's Mark Hotel in St. Louis where they each operate machinery worth many thousands of dollars.

Melba Grady could be forgiven if she took an "I-told-you-so attitude," for Kevin and Keith Grady's story is largely a story of a mother who would not quit, who would not let her sons quit.

It could be a story to shame anyone who has not gotten the most out of his or her own potential.

It's a story of persistence. And triumph.

Intelligence tests. What do they measure? Increasingly, cognitive psychologists have come to believe that all they measure is the ability to take tests.

"They can't tell time," Melba Grady said of Kevin and Keith. "But they know time."

"They've never been late for school. They've never been late for work. Teachers don't measure these types of things," she said.

The twins have learned ways to compensate for their deficiencies. They are severely dyslexic and can't read. Yet they can recognize and obey traffic signs and signals. They can recognize the correct bus to get to and from work.

Kevin and Keith have had their jobs at the Adam's Mark for four months. Kevin works in the laundry, and Keith works in the kitchen. Both are described as exemplary employees by their superiors.

Steve Carroll, the vocational rehabilitation supervisor who helped train the twins, likes to tell the bus story, to illustrate how the twins compensate.

During the first few days of their training, Carroll worried about whether the twins would get home safely each night to Granite City. He accompanied them to make sure they got on the right bus.

After a few days, he tried to trick them into getting on the wrong bus. They wouldn't — even though they couldn't "read" the destination of the bus.

"They know it's the right one through the shape of the letters," Carroll said. "They ride the Pontoon Beach Express bus. They call it the McKinley Bridge bus, because it crosses the McKinley Bridge. There is an actual McKinley Bridge Express, but they won't get on it."

When they get to the right bus stop on Nameoki Road, they get off, get in their car and drive home. Which is another story.

While the twins were attending Granite City High School South, Melba Grady was the driving force in getting special education driver-education courses instituted.

Later, she prodded state officials to let the twins take oral instead of written driver's exams.

She refused the recommendation of a state rehabilitation counselor that the twins be placed in a residential care facility.

She wanted them to work, but not in a sheltered workshop. She wanted them to have real jobs — and the pride of knowing that they were contributing.

Finally, the Illinois Department of Rehabilitative Services accepted Kevin and Keith for a trial program developed by the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kan. Steve Carroll works for Ellis and Associates Inc., which runs the program at Adam's Mark.

In mid-July, the Grady twins completed a 12-week training program. The Adam's Mark program is intended as a demonstration for other companies in the St. Louis area to encourage them to hire the mentally and physically handicapped.

Adam's Mark Personnel Manager Marty Trbovich said, "I had reservations at first," about the Gradys and the program. "But they've worked out very well. It's been a fantastic program for us."

Sitting in the kitchen of her immaculate home on Sunset Drive, Melba Grady looked back.

"The message I'd like to send to parents is to be persistent with these agencies," she said.

Kevin and Keith arrived home from work.

"What's for dinner, Mom?" Keith asked, opening the refrigerator and rummaging around. "Later," Melba said.

"Mom, we can't wait!" Kevin said plaintively.

"They sat to talk for a minute. Do you look forward to going to work?"

"Every day," Keith said enthusiastically. "Today was real busy."

Kevin was less cheerful. "I had a bad day. The worst day you ever seen in your life. This guy was picking on me, saying something I didn't like."

Melba: "You're not going to like everyone you work with."

Kevin: "Yeah, I guess so."

Melba Grady said she had to instill the desire to work in Kevin and Keith. They always had household chores to do.

"One of the things that helped them along," she said, "was expecting a certain amount of things from them."

But they balked at getting actual jobs.

"For a long time, it was kind of like 'Why work? What do we need money for?'"

"I felt I needed to make them hungry. To give them that desire, there has to be things to work for. They were quite content with what they had."

She wasn't. She wasn't content with their "working in a workshop for 75 cents an hour. Sitting around a lot. Being segregated."

She found them a reason to work. She and her husband, Tom, promised them they could buy a new car with their earnings.

Now, she said, the twins have discovered that work itself can be its own reward.

"They're happier," she said. "It gives them great pride to go to work. It's built them confidence in themselves."

"Kevin and Keith don't have a lot of other social interests. Their social interest is their job."

After a story about Keith and Kevin and their new jobs appeared in another publication, Melba Grady got a call from a Collinsville woman who has a retarded son. The woman had been told the same discouraging things Grady had been told by teachers and counselors.

"She asked me, 'What can I do? I know my son can work. I think he has abilities.'"

"I told her to stick in there. Keep going back. That you have to just keep working with them (the agencies), telling them what you want for your son."

Of the mainstreaming of retarded workers, Grady said, "We need to sell it to the businesses in our area. They can work. They're good employees."

Steve Carroll said that in the 16 weeks Kevin and Keith have worked at Adam's Mark, neither has missed a day or been late. He said the average employee in their departments misses a day or is late at least once a week.

"That's half the battle for employers, getting everybody to work as scheduled," Carroll said.

"Awesome" is the word Steve Carroll uses to describe Melba Grady. "She does not know the word quit."

Grady prefers to spread credit around — to Carroll, to the Parents for Special Education, to the Illinois Department for Rehabilitative Services, and to the College for Living, which trains retarded people in the skills required to get by in society.

"I'm glad to have the opportunity to talk, not just about Kevin and Keith, but about the whole system."

"It gives me the chance to say thank you to those who have helped, and to say to those who didn't — we made it."

There's a slight glitter in her eyes as she says this. It's the glitter of pride. And of triumph.

Old days here included gunfire, good and bad guys, growth

(First of two columns)
As of Sept. 16, 1989, I'm marking my 44th anniversary with the Granite City newspaper, so it may be time for a bit of reminiscing.

As I said in an article on the 40th anniversary four years ago, it's been a lot of hard work but highly enjoyable. I still get a creative feeling from writing and editing and I'm glad to leap out of bed in the morning and head down to work.

(OK, I fibbed a little. Most mornings I am glad to get up, but not every morning. And there's no leaping.)

HOW CAN ANYONE be content to do substantially the same thing for 44 years?

My answer is that it hasn't stayed the same. As is true with local weather, change is the name of the game.

Not only has newspapering itself changed a lot, but the local community is much different than in the past, in some ways better and in some ways worse. This area started out small, grew dramatically, shrank and now is starting a new resurgence.

It's home. It's where I want to be, doing the kind of work I love to do. Who could ask for more?

FOR NEARLY 37 YEARS, the Press-Record and now the Press-Record/Journal and Journal have tried to provide "instant history," a chronicle of happenings and trends to help citizens successfully live in and perpetuate a democratic community, region, state and nation.

I don't have a long white beard, but I have been here more than half of this newspaper's history.

That's a span of years that may be unmatched by anyone else in the history of the Granite City paper. (Corky Townsend, still hale and hearty, was active at the paper 43 years, 1927-70.)

Speaking of getting out of bed in the morning, I've been fortunate enough to be able to do just that — report for duty — virtually every scheduled workday of the year throughout those 44 years, except for one or two days. Do I get a star in my notebook for that?

Winter wonderland

By Bill Winter

and in the same block even longer, the P-R/J has been expanding its horizons, becoming one of the biggest and best offset color presses in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Led by such people as President/Publisher Rick Jarvis, Assistant General Manager Mark Schmersahl and Managing Editor Dennis Grubbs, we're putting together a lively, fact-filled issue each Sunday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The staff of East Side Publications also is involved in varying degrees in three other issues each week, the Wednesday and Friday (soon-to-be Wednesday and Sunday) Chukola-Dupo Journal and the Wednesday East St. Louis News Journal.

I BEGAN WRITING sports and general news in 1945 after serving as a Press-Record carrier in the early 1940s.

I became assistant editor in 1956, associate editor in 1961 and editor from 1970 to 1980. Although I've trimmed my hours in the '80s, I'm still closely involved as the chief copy editor.

I was the first reporter Corky hired after he began in 1944 to buy the newspaper from Ed Campbell; the purchase was completed in 1947.

AS CORKY SAID IN 1945, I should have paid him, instead of him paying me, due to the training and experience the job offered.

We wrote births, deaths and "everything in between." Not much work could be delegated to others because there weren't many "others."

It was and is exciting; it was dangerous, too. In support of our goal of good government, we fought corruption and it fought back.

WE WON awards for journalistic courage and felt we deserved them.

Corky sometimes was followed by hoodlums in a big, menacing automobile. The attempted scare tactic may have been related to our coverage of a union leader arrested on federal charges.

I stopped by the newsroom late one night and discovered the office had been damaged by bullets; two of our glass blocks still don't match because they replaced blocks shattered by the gunfire.

THAT INCIDENT probably stemmed from our coverage of illegal gambling at the 200 Club, 200 State St., Madison. The building later housed a sort of drink bottling business unrelated to the previous activity there.

For years, prosecutors issued misdemeanor information against various club employees, who paid fines. The club remained in operation, and other employees were arrested the next time, avoiding categorizing anyone as a repeat offender.

We weren't the only targets of attempted intimidation. One night, bullets were sprayed against the front of the Madison residence of Madison County's state's attorney, the late Austin Lewis.

ANOTHER TIME, a handgun was pointed at two Press-Record news staff members, Art Jennings and Jule Bartels, by a notorious Madison businessman, Garland McGarvey. That was in the mid-1960s.

Another P-R reporter, the late Marion Bartosiak, was partly choked at The Den in the 1950s by a relative of Frank "Buster" Wortman; then a resident of Collinsville, Wortman, now deceased, was the boss of the gangster syndicate in this region.

But there also were a lot of "good guys," not just "bad guys," around Metro East in those "good old days."

Next: Modern times.

Don't delay drug package

While Congress debates the merits of George Bush's $7.9 billion drug-fighting program, babies are dying of cocaine addiction, kids are selling crack and there is slaughter in our nation's streets.

Should we wait to make this plan just right, or should we all get on the band wagon to enact at least some measure of it? The latter, of course.

Two weeks ago we reported on arrests for crack dealing in the Venice area. Most of us could not remember a similar local incident having taken place previously. It surely will again.

The world has reached a climactic point. Experts say that last year, for the first time in the last several years, the number of people using cocaine actually declined. Education programs, on the other hand, are on the upswing. Publicity is at a never-higher level. All this combined means that the world is ready for a change.

Colombia is attacking the problem at the most grassroots level — arresting the manufacturers and distributors of drugs. Rounding up the drug lords for potential extradition and prosecution in the United States will help attack the cause of the problem. But it won't cure our ills.

What will? Education will. Pouring money into local law enforcement will. Worldwide governmental cooperation will. Tough sentences will. Treatment will.

But not alone. All these elements make up a package that will work, if partisan bickering can be put aside. George Bush may be echoing sentiments of our last four presidents, but he is in the unique position to do far more than the rest combined. Take his program. Improve it. But don't water it down through criticism.

Population rising, but slowly

The good news is that Metro East's population is growing. The bad news is that it's not keeping pace with the rest of the nation; U.S. residents grew by 8.5 percent between 1980 and 1988, reaching 245.8 million.

Illinois increased only 1.6 percent, reaching 11.6 million, with 27 counties gaining and 75 losing. Madison County grew by 1.9 percent, moving ahead of Winnebago to become the seventh largest county in the state. With a 1988 figure of 252,300, the local county lost 5,800 due to migration but offset that with 10,400 more births than deaths.

St. Clair grew by .8 percent and is now sixth largest at 269,700; it lost 15,500 through migration but there were 17,600 more births than deaths.

Monroe County grew by 10.4 percent, the fifth highest percentage rise in Illinois. With a total of 22,200, Monroe added 1,400 residents from migration and a net 700 from births.

St. Louis lost nearly 11 percent but the bi-state area increased 3.8 percent to 2.46 million, retaining its 1980 ranking as the nation's 14th most populous. St. Charles County had the highest increase in Missouri with 41.8 percent, going from 144,107 to 204,400. Warren County grew 31.6 percent, 14,900 to 19,600. Jefferson increased from 146,183 to 172,400, up 17.9 percent. Franklin rose 10.6 percent, from 71,233 to 78,800.

St. Louis County advanced from 974,180 to 1,008,300, or 3.6 percent. The city's figure fell from 453,801 to 403,400, down 10.9 percent; St. Louisiense rose 10.9 percent, from 357,000 to 395,000. Missouri increased 4.6 percent since 1980, from 4.9 million to 5.1 million.

Illinois continues to be sixth largest, but our state had the seventh slowest growth rate in the nation. With 22 states in Congress, we will lose one or two to the Sun Belt, where Florida, Texas and California are booming.

Eight regions increased their populations by at least 500,000, led by Los Angeles-Anaheim-Riverside with an increase of 2.3 million for a total of 13.8 million.

Of the 10 fastest-growing areas in the country, eight were in Florida, including pace-setting Naples' 138,500, up 61.1 percent.

Florida clearly is a tough act to follow, but Metro East planners have high hopes, citing a flurry of construction activity here in the late 1980s.

Health-care leadership cited

St. Elizabeth Medical Center is big, the second-largest Quad City area employer; it is "high-tech," bringing the most up-to-date health care to Metro East. But it depends greatly on the support of the public, the provision of services by volunteers, the skills of a large medical staff, and enlightened leadership by not only the hospital's key officials but also lawmakers at all levels.

Recognition of this interdependence was given at the biennial De La Roche Award dinner held during the weekend at another high-tech center, The Living World at the St. Louis Zoo.

Sharing top honors were U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, who formerly represented the Granite City area in the Illinois General Assembly, State Rep. Sam W. Wolf, a leading member of the Illinois House, and Leo H. Konzen, a local attorney who has devoted much volunteer time to SEMC. Konzen is vice chairman of the SEMC board.

Community Service Awards for 1989 were presented to Doctors Shafique Ahmad, Reza Ashraf, Prasanna Kumar, Willy Morgan, Athanasios Nicolaidis, Kanubhai Patel, Kraison Punjashidkul, Abdul Razaq and Xamman Tulyasathien, plus laymen Don Adams, Helen Bergfield and Joyce Schrader.

The top award is named for Mother Marie De La Roche, founder of the Sisters of Divine Providence, who own the medical center.

Mother De La Roche devoted her life to the care of the sick and service to her community. The latest recipients exemplify in this generation the spirit of giving she personified long ago.

Make politicians accountable

To the editor:

Petitions on The Tax Accountability Amendment will be sent to our southern region from The National Taxpayers United of Illinois in cooperation with The Committee for Citizens Government Inc.

Constitutionally-conservative voters participating in this statewide petition drive hope to make politicians accountable to voters: Give 1990 voters their say on this issue.

The accountability amendment will: •Require a 3/5 vote of the Illinois General Assembly on revenue increases (more than the majority vote currently used to raise our taxes).

•Require new Revenue Committees to give the public two weeks notice and hold public hearings before tax bills can be voted out of committees.

Because political officeholders such as the village boards, assessors, mayors, aldermen, county board members and sheriffs are too often concerned with advancing their own personal political careers, they often overlook the more urgent needs of their cities' people.

Twenty other states in the country have recently passed amendments to lower taxes, change revenue-sharing, conduct audits, etc., and have improved their local communities.

Central and northern Illinois political action committees have already begun to take action. Using examples from New York, Chicago and Rockford, leaders in this constitutionally-conservative PAC restoration of good government, their leaders have been calling on southern Illinois taxpayers and concerned citizens to cooperate.

What is their slogan? "Don't just stand there: defend yourself."

Let's remember the taxpayers' Alamo: a $1.2 billion tax increase (contrary to voters' wishes) is equal to a $6,000 pay raise for legislators and the doubling of Gov. Thompson's pension to $80,000.

Your petitions will be sent if you contact the Committee for Citizens Government, 5227 South Airport Road, Bartonville, Ill. 61607.

Even a 10-year-old can help circulate a petition. Just write and ask for one to be sent to your home.

The more people passing them out, the more people will help legislate funding and improve poor communities. Readers are urged to participate from all walks of life, even those receiving welfare and/or Supplemental Security Income. They must remember they do have a voice in government.

Telephone (309) 697-4625 in Bartonville. Tell them where the petitions can be mailed and give them your address, everybody.

Properly salute American flag

To the editor:

We the members of the VFW Post 5691 color guard appreciate the opportunity to march in the annual Labor Day parade in Granite City. We consider it an honor.

We, however, would like to comment regarding the parade viewers. Very few citizens seem to pay proper tribute to the flag of the United States as it passes by.

Proper procedure for non-uniformed persons is to rise and render the hand salute over the heart as Old Glory proudly passes by.

With all the furor over the "flag burning" issue as decided by the United States Supreme Court, we would like to encourage all persons to pay the proper respect to the flag of our country as it passes by in a parade.

Support independent businesses

To the editor:

Regarding the article in the Sept. 7 edition of the Press-Record which spotlighted the Hard Body Gym as an independent owner and operator of a home-town business without relying on a big-name chain franchise for support and advertising, I wish the local newspapers would spotlight all the locally-owned and operated businesses which have opened within the past few months.

I would like to commend Mr. McGuire, as well as all the other local men and women who are making the effort for an independent business, and to encourage the residents of Granite City to support these businesses.

Costello's staff helped man get paid

To the editor:

The office of Rep. Jerry Costello in Granite City helped me get incapacity pay from the Army Reserve.

I'd been trying for a year and a half without much response until I contacted Dave Cueto at the office.

Thank you, Dave and Rep. Costello, for your help.

i.e.: Just one more abbrev.

I'm destined to live an abbreviated life.

Not that it won't be long and productive. That's not for me to say. But it will be abbreviated.

For instance, I'd go to the doctor for an Rx, but I know I couldn't afford the $5.

Abbreviations are abbreviations of the soul. Why if God created all these brains to create all these great words, do we try to take the shortcut, i.e., a 90 mph drive up the St. Ave., or Blvd.?

Dr. A. Nagisloquique (such doctors never have first names, it seems) could justify his bill by saying, "Look, Mr., I didn't get my PhD at Wash U for nothing!" To which I would respond: "Oh yeah, well, I got my BS in journalism at SIUE. And my master's in BS! I'm not paying!"

The USA has 50 states, all with names, but the Postal Service insists on telling us we live in only a part of each. I'm supposedly an Ill. or IL resident. Some people at the paper live in Mo. (most of them in St. Louis). None here, however, lives in E. St. Louis (does anybody any more?)

Turn on TV. You'll find plenty of info on HMOs on HBO; on IRAs on CBS; and interview Q's and A's on NBC.

What month is this? It's Sept. What day? Thurs., of course. And time is either a.m. or p.m.

How about political intrigue? If the FBI doesn't have you wiretapped on AT&T, then certainly the CIA has got a bug in your GM. Of course, they both might be too concerned about the KGB to worry about you.

And sports journalists are everywhere: Dr. J runs circles on the basketball court, while Dr. K throws strikes in Flushing Meadows. (As in NY).

Day-to-day just seems to get shorter. Letters always ask me to RSVP. Members are always "re: something."

We've even banished names of our great presidents, left only with JFK, FDR and LBJ.

Also, nobody has titles anymore. Not either Sen. Sam. Rep. Wolf or Cong. Costello. (Those, by the way, do not stand for senatorial, respectable and congenial.) All this is enough to make me vote GOP again — unless a better Demo surfaces.

But enough is enough. I must be (sic) of this. Go ahead, turn the pg.

What do you think about the state of the city's streets?

In light of the controversy surrounding the Granite City Street Department employees and Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield, what is your opinion of the condition of the streets in the city as a whole?

Dr. Gerard Baggot,
Granite City

"I don't think they're too bad. I think they're good. We could use more stoplights, though, especially on Madison Avenue for pedestrian crossings and traffic, too."

Juanita Libby,
Granite City

"I think they're fine. They (the street department workers) do what they can do. I think we have a fine superintendent of streets."

Alma Garrard,
Granite City

"Some of the streets are terrible. There's a lot of repairs that need to be done. There's lots of holes and some are not well marked."

Williams appointed IG of NRC

GRANITE CITY — David Curtis Williams, formerly of Granite City, has been appointed inspector general of the federal Nuclear Regulatory Agency by President George Bush.

He is president of the Association of Federal Investigators, an organization with a membership of more than 2,000.

Williams is the son of Ernel Williams and the late Curtis Williams of Granite City. He attended Webster Elementary School, Granite City High School, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and the University of Illinois.

Prior to his appointment, Williams, a former Secret Service agent, was director of the Office of Special Investigations for the General Accounting Office. He had been director of OSI since its formation in 1986.

He has also worked as an operations director in the Labor Department's labor racketeering division and as a staff director for the president's Commission on Organized Crime.

He is a graduate of the U.S. Military Intelligence Academy in Fort Holabird, Md.; the Federal Law Enforcement Academy in Glynn, Ga.; and the U.S. Secret Service Training Academy in Washington, D.C.

He has held teaching positions at Loyola University in Chicago, the Canadian Police College in Ottawa and the FBI Academy in Quantico, Va.

Zeugin joins Central Bank

FAIRVIEW HEIGHTS — Kathryn Zeugin of Granite City has joined Central Bank as a credit analyst, it was announced by Bart J. Salen, president and chief executive officer.

Prior to joining Central Bank, Zeugin worked in her family business, a hobby shop in Granite City. While a student at Illinois State University in Normal, she worked as an intern in the Commercial Banking Division of Central Bank, including working at Central during her Christmas and summer vacations.

Zeugin resides in Granite City with her parents, Dolores and Charles Zeugin. She is a graduate of Granite City High School and earned a bachelor of science degree at ISU, graduating in May.

Central Bank, with locations in Granite City, Glen Carbon, Marine and Fairview Heights, is a member of the Central Bank System Inc., a $285 million bank holding company.

Burns named VP/manager

GRANITE CITY — Jack Burns has been hired as vice president and manager of Mortgage Placement Specialists, President Walter Gorski announced recently.

Mortgage Placement Specialists, located at 3703 Nameoki Road, is a mortgage company specializing in VA, FHA and conventional financing.

"Mr. Burns comes to MPS with an extensive mortgage background," Gorski said. "He has been in the banking industry since 1972, most recently serving as assistant vice president and branch manager for a successful mortgage broker in this area. We believe the addition of Jack Burns to our staff is just one more positive step toward our goal of being the foremost mortgage company in the Metro East area."

Hardee's adds pancakes

Hardee's Food Systems Inc. has announced the addition of pancakes to its regular breakfast menu.

The introduction of pancakes is the fast-food chain's first breakfast menu addition since its line of made-from-scratch Rise and Shine biscuits.

"We've done extensive research and customer questioning about our breakfast menu," said Jim Jensen, Area IV vice president. "People love our pancakes because they're made from scratch and because they're so easy to eat on the run or take along to work."

Hardee's serves its breakfast menu from opening to 10:30 a.m. Hardee's is the country's third largest fast-food chain, and operates a regional headquarters in St. Louis.

Illinois Power reports loss

Illinois Power recently reported a loss of 14 cents per common share for its second quarter. This compares to earnings of 23 cents per common share for the second quarter of 1988.

For the 12 months ended June 30, Illinois Power reported a loss of $3.89 per common share, compared to earnings of $2.97 per common share for the same period in 1988. In the first six months of 1989, the company lost $4.94 per common share, compared to earnings of 99 cents per common share for the same period in 1988.

The six-month and 12-month losses reflect an after-tax write-off of $346 million taken in the first quarter. This write-off decreased earnings per common share by $4.64 and $4.71, respectively, for the six-month and 12-month periods. The write-off was taken in response to disallowances relating to the construction of the Clinton Power Station contained in the Illinois Commerce Commission's March 30 rate order. The company has filed an appeal of that rate order with the Third District Appellate Court of Illinois.

For the first time since 1947, a common stock dividend was not declared for the quarter, an action that affects more than 91,000 stockholders. In a letter to shareholders, the company said another common stock dividend will not be paid in 1989.

GC contractor building center

S.M. Wilson and Co., a general contractor and construction management firm from Granite City, has broken ground for phase one of the $750,000 Club Centre neighborhood shopping center in Edwardsville. The center is 60 percent preleased to a variety of retailers and restaurants.

The retail center is being developed on a five-acre site along Illinois 187 by Club Centre Inc. of Belleville. Locations Realty is the leasing agent. Completion is expected in late fall 1989.

The one-level structural steel facility will feature a beige-colored masonry exterior and a copper-colored mansard-style canopy. A 40-foot-high clock tower will serve as a beacon to Club Centre. Uniform signage design will add graphic cohesiveness to the center.

Adjacent land controlled by the developer will support an additional 15,000-square-foot neighborhood retail center as occupancy rates rise in the phase one development. Three other parcels are also available for development.

Architect for the development is Artec Inc., Belleville. Major subcontractors include J.F. Electric Inc., Edwardsville, electrical, and France Mechanical Corp., Edwardsville, mechanical.

Smokers finding less work room

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

It seems like they're popping up in more places all the time. Airplanes, restaurants, schools, offices—those little "no smoking" signs are just about everywhere you look.

Over the last several years, increasing publicity and concern about the hazards of smoking, and especially of inhaling second-hand smoke, have given rise to numerous battles as America continues to eat away at the number of places where smokers can light up.

Area field representative Lloyd Cauley of the American Cancer Society's Collinsville office said the society has been receiving numerous requests for a publication featuring a model policy listing places in the workplace where smoking can be prohibited. Another ACS spokesman, Wanda Harding, said 2,400 Americans die annually from breathing second-hand cigarette smoke.

"I think there is an interest in smoking in the workplace, and that many people object to being forced to breathe second-hand smoke from a smoker," Cauley said. "I think as a result we are seeing more requests for the type of information."

Cauley added that the American Cancer Society is lobbying in favor of the state Clean Indoor Air Act, which would legislate restrictions on smoking in the workplace.

On the other side of the coin, Maura Payne, a spokesperson for the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Winston-Salem, N.C., said smokers also have been more active in requesting information on protecting their ability to light up.

"We started to get so many inquiries from smokers for help, we decided to start holding smokers' rights meetings across the country," Payne said.

The seminars have been held for about 18 months and address issues like how to circulate petitions, write legislation and work with local government officials and employers on keeping areas open to smokers. The company also mails out a bimonthly newsletter covering many of the same topics, she said.

"The point is just to accept the rights of both smokers and non-smokers," Payne said. "We still believe that most of these situations can be worked out between individual people who oppose legislation that requires restrictions on smoking."

Gary Miller, assistant to the president of the Tobacco Institute in Washington, D.C., said the move to restrict smoking may be

"I think there is an interest in smoking in the workplace, and that many people object to being forced to breathe second-hand smoke from a smoker."

—Lloyd Cauley,
American Cancer Society

less of a trend than many people think. He said the latest study by the Bureau of National Affairs shows that nearly 90 percent of U.S. businesses still allow smoking in all or part of their buildings.

"Because there are a lot of anti-smoking efforts, and because of the amount of media attention given to it, that makes it look like a trend," Miller said. "But statistically, it's not that much of a trend."

The battle to allow, or not allow smoking has not bypassed the Metro East.

For example, the new Air Force Communications Command headquarters building at Scott Air Force Base has become a bone of contention. The Air Force has issued a memo prohibiting smoking in the building, but the National Association of Government Employees is trying to change that.

Carl Denton, president of NAGE Local R-23 at Scott AFB, said the union and Air Force "reached an impasse over the situation some time ago." He has filed a pre-complaint with the base, which allows two weeks to resolve the problem before he files a formal complaint with the Federal Labor Relations Authority. Denton said the union also is considering filing suit for an injunction to keep the Air Force from opening the new building until the smoking issue is decided.

"The union is caught between a rock and a hard place, because we represent both the smokers and the non-smokers," said Denton, who is a non-smoker. "We certainly don't feel it is appropriate to tell people they have to walk down the street to have a smoke. At the very least they should have some place they should go."

"You just can't tell someone who has the habit that they can't smoke," he said. "It's going to drive them crazy. Just how productive is a person going to be when their every thought is, 'I've got to get out of here to have a smoke?'"

The smokers who may be sweat it out until coffee break at the AFCC headquarters certainly are not alone. According to base spokesman Capt. George Cillia, it is Air Force policy to increasingly restrict areas where smoking is allowed.

According to Air Force regulations, non-smoking is the norm. Cillia said. "Whenever possible in a dispute between non-smoking and smoking, non-smoking will win out. We've been moving more and more each year toward non-smoking areas and having special areas for smokers."

Belleville Area College adopted a policy in April banning smoking in classrooms, halls, the library and all other areas unless otherwise indicated, at the Belleville, Granite City and Red Bud campuses.

And on Monday, BAC President Joe Cipri said the policy adopted in February may be only the beginning.

"This really is a policy in transition," Cipri said. "I think probably the areas where smoking occurs will continue to be decreased."

Cipri said the BAC Board of Trustees adopted the no-smoking policy after a survey of both students and faculty revealed overwhelming support for such a move. He said comments on the policy so far have been favorable, and cooperation outstanding.

"We listen to what our students are saying, and they are saying that they want a clean air environment," Cipri said.

St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville also has a no-smoking policy that is constantly in transition, according to Director of Community Relations and Marketing Tom Vernier. He said the hospital's policy restricts visitor smoking to specific areas like lounges and waiting rooms, and prohibits bed-ridden patients from smoking unless they have their physician's permission. He said the policy dates back to the 70s, and has been reviewed almost yearly since then.

"We have also formed a committee to review this policy and to make recommendations to the hospital administrators and medical staff, so the whole policy is under review currently," Vernier said.

Vernier said that according to the Aug. 20 issue of "Hospitals" magazine, 13 states, including Illinois, currently have legislation pending with regards to hospital smoking.

Manager Lori McIntosh of St. Clair Square said it is up to individual stores at the mall to determine smoking policies. She said most stores do not allow smoking at all, and many of the restaurants have non-smoking areas. However, smoking is allowed outside of the individual shops.

Publication gives result of crash-test

The federal government's Consumer Information Center offers a publication that reports crash-test results for different vehicles and highlights new automatic crash-protection equipment.

Another government service is all-free hotline created to provide information to motorists experiencing safety problems with their vehicles or its equipment.

In addition to reporting crash-test results, the publication, called "Auto Facts," also includes information on bumper cars, lights and vehicle recalls.

To test a car, the National Highway Traffic Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Transportation, crashes it head-on into a rigid wall at 35 mph. To check the potential for injury to a driver and a passenger, human-like dummies in the car are equipped with instruments to measure the impact.

Since large vehicles usually offer better protection than smaller ones, the results are generally good for cars and vans. The performance of vehicles in the same weight class. All dummies in the crash tests wear safety belts, indicating potential injuries to real people who also would be wearing safety belts.

Easy-to-read charts in "Auto Facts" allow consumers to comparison-shop for safety. There are also safety recall charts and safety equipment charts.

To obtain a copy of "Auto Facts," send 50 cents to: Consumer Information Center, Item 46GT, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

This telephone service is staffed from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. If you call after hours, an answering machine will record your name, address and request. The information requested will be mailed to you.

The telephone number is 800-424-9393.

More disclosure follows big S&amp;L bailout

The savings and loan industry got its wish with a taxpayer-paid bailout, but there was a price to pay.

That price was greater disclosure, says Justine Petersen of the group Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now (ACORN).

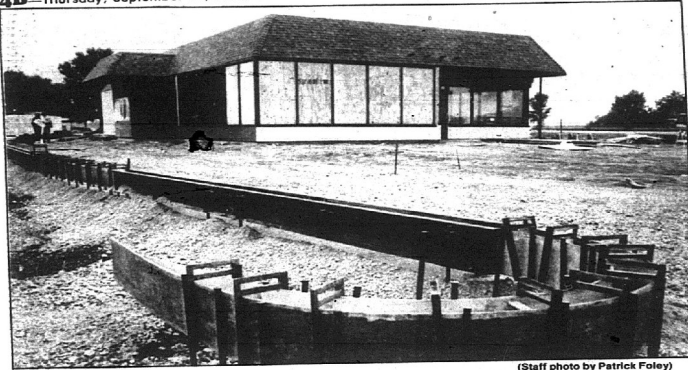

By requiring banks and savings and loans to reveal the income level, race and gender of borrowers "we'll have a better idea of what the banks loan their money to," she said.

ACORN currently tracks the lending practices of banks and thrifts via Community

Reinvestment Act reports. But these reports detail lending by census tracts, which Petersen said doesn't provide enough detail to accurately analyze lending patterns.

The new disclosure provisions were written into the bailout bill at the behest of ACORN's office in Washington, D.C.

CUB asks ICC to dismiss IP rate plea

The Citizens Utility Board (CUB) on Sept. 5 asked the Illinois Commerce Commission to dismiss Illinois Power Company's latest rate hike request because, the CUB said, the commission has already resolved key issues raised by the case.

In a motion seeking the dismissal, CUB argued that circumstances have not changed significantly since March, when the ICC rejected the company's request for an 11-year, $3.5 billion rate hike plan to pay for the Clinton Power Station. The ICC found the company should receive a $60 million increase.

Illinois Power's latest request seeks a $265 million, or 29 percent, annual rate increase to pay for costs associated with Clinton. If approved, that increase would cost the average residential consumer an additional $215 a year, the CUB contended.

"Illinois Power is trying to have the ICC rehash the same old arguments the company has been making about Clinton for the last two years — arguments the commissioners rejected in March," CUB Executive Director Susan Steward said.

"The commission's March order concluded that only 28 percent of the Clinton plant is needed. IP disagrees with that conclusion and is challenging the order before the Illinois Appellate Court."

"The Illinois Appellate Court

recently reversed a commission order that allowed Commonwealth Edison to relitigate the same issues after they had been rejected by the ICC.

"CUB's motion argues that the ICC would be committing the same reversible error if it gave IP a second chance to litigate its case."

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

A person who is having a contractor build a home should be careful about the manner in which he makes payments to the contractor. The contract with the builder should provide that payments will be made in installments as the work is completed. In addition, the homeowner should be certain that lien waivers are obtained from subcontractors and suppliers of material on a regular basis.

In one recent case, a homeowner decided to have a $35,000 addition constructed on his existing residence. The contract did not really specify how payments would be made. The homeowner paid the initial $7,000 down, which was to cover materials and labor to get the job started. At the end of three weeks, the contractor approached the owner and requested that the balance of the contract price be paid immediately. The homeowner immediately paid the entire balance owed, and the contractor thereafter disappeared with all the money.

In another case, a homeowner paid $13,000 to a general contractor, as the final installment under their contract. The contractor was to pay $6,400 from this sum to the supplier of carpeting and hardwood floors which were used in the home. The homeowner failed to obtain a lien waiver from the contractor before the final payment was made, and the general contractor kept the entirety of the final installment for his own use. The supplier of the carpeting and floors immediately filed a lien against the property for $6,400. This meant that the homeowner wound up paying for the carpeting and floors twice, since he had to pay again for these materials in order to have the lien removed.

What steps should be followed by a person building a home in order to ensure that a contractor does not take advantage of him? In the first place, a contract between the homeowner and the contractor should provide that all payments will be made in installments upon completion of a specified amount of work.

In addition, the person building the home should be very careful that lien waivers are presented by subcontractors and suppliers of material on a regular basis. The homeowner actually take it upon himself to pay suppliers and subcontractors directly to ensure that these people are paid on a timely basis. Illinois law allows these individuals to file a lien against the property if they are not paid by the general contractor.

District 12 reissues debt to reduce cost

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

MADISON — The Board of Education has given final approval to a "teachers' orders" bond issue that will allow the district to pay off much of the debt it has accumulated, with a lower rate of interest.

The new bond issue is essentially a refinancing of the bond issue the school board approved last December, when an interest rate of 8.6 percent was obtained.

The new issue, which totals $1,850,000 over 10 years, is at an interest rate of 7.6 percent, officials said Thursday night.

Of the total, $500,000 will go to repay the First National Bank in Madison, which had paid teachers' salaries this summer under an agreement with the school district related to the December bond issue.

The remainder of the money will be used to pay current expenses faced by the district for the 1989-90 school year, according to attorney Don Lindberg, whose Geneva, Ill., firm handled the legal work on the bond issue for the district.

The payments the district will make amount to about $140,000 per year, Lindberg said.

The bonds were purchased by the consulting firm of Miller & Schroeder Financial Inc. of Minneapolis.

"I think this puts the district in much better financial condition," said Lindberg.

"This pretty much cleans up all the old debt at a reasonable payback rate."

The "teachers' orders" procedure enables the district to issue bonds without voter approval to provide sufficient funds to meet the teacher payroll.

In other business, the board has accepted with regret the resignation of Susan Borstein as a social worker for the district. She is moving to Battle Creek, Mich.

"We will move to replace that position with a new social worker in as timely a fashion as possible," Superintendent of Schools Dan Koestel said.

The board also hired a crossing guard for the corner of Sixth Street and McCambridge Avenue, where there is a school crossing stoplight.

The new guard is Sherri Wilson, who began her duties with the start of the fall term.

SIUE announces 89-90 provost scholarships

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced the names of this year's recipients of Provost Scholarships.

Granite City recipients and their majors include: Kim Asbeck, music; Timothy H. Black, undecided major; Melanie Ethridge, sociology; Timothy J. Gossett, engineering; Cynthia M. Mefford, elementary education; and Todd Todaro, physics.

The scholarships provide tuition awards to outstanding students who demonstrate strong academic promise and creative talent. These highly competitive scholarships, based on both ability and need, recognize academic excellence and support promising students in their educational efforts at the University.

The scholarships carry full or partial tuition waivers at the Illinois resident rate for a maximum period of three quarters.

Local student gets two scholarships

Tabitha Robin Ellsworth of Granite City was awarded a $100 scholarship and a $1,000 scholarship from the Anderson Hospital Auxiliary Committee, based on outstanding merit and scholastic achievement in the medical sciences.

The recognition is awarded to an individual who maintains a 4.0 grade point average or better during undergraduate studies and who plans to further his or her education in the medical field.

A position is reserved for the recipient at Anderson in the student's chosen area of study.

She is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and holds a bachelor of science degree in biology/pre-medicine.

She has held a position on the Dean's list and Honor Roll three consecutive years with a GPA of 4.5.

Philippians 1:29... "For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake."

Multitudes of people in times of crisis have called on Christ for help. There is no doubt that they have been helped. It seems, however, that many are led to believe that after coming to the Lord for help, there will be no more trials. No, my friend. There will still be some hard times.

In order for you to control your situation, you must accept suffering for Christ's sake as a privilege. All things work together for good to them who love God. It is up to you what the outcome will be of any test or trial you have to endure.

If you continue to serve God, to praise Him, and give thanks in all things, you may well hear Him say one day, "Well done."

Sandra Holmes
Airman Sandra K. Holmes whose father, James E. Holmes resides in Granite City, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, near San Antonio, Texas.

Beth Kirkover
Storekeeper Seaman Beth Anne Kirkover has enlisted in the U.S. Navy and is presently stationed at the Trident Refit Facility, located at the Naval Submarine Base on Kings Bay, Ga.

Kirkover works in customer service monitoring requests for material for the tentative command of Commander Submarine Group Ten and the Trident facility.

She also is known as a "plank owner," a name for those persons stationed at a command prior to its commissioning or "on line" designation.

The command which came on line in September was awarded an outstanding rating following a supply management inspection in July and Kirkover was commended for her efforts in helping to attain the rating, the family said.

Since her assignment to customer service about 7 weeks ago, the seaman has input over 800 requests for material and has the responsibility of a petty officer 3rd class, her parents said.

Kirkover is the daughter of Dee and Danny Kirkover of Granite City. Prior to joining the Navy, she was active in the United States Naval Reserves serving as a member of the Naval Supply Depot, Guam Detachment 118 at the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Center in Bridgeport, Mo.

She was a member of the Naval Reserves for three years and during that period of time she was involved in training duty on Guam, Japan, San Francisco, Hawaii and Orlando, Fla.

Kirkover is expected to remain at the Kings Bay facility for the next three years and anticipates receiving a petty officer 3rd class rating later this year, her parents said.

The local seaman recently became engaged to Machinery Repairman 3rd Class Philip Jay Noll, U.S. Navy, who is assigned to the machine shops at the same Trident submarine facility. Friends wishing to contact Kirkover may write to: SSKN Beth Anne Kirkover, TRF Code 521, Kings Bay, Ga., 31547, or at 120 Gross Road, Kingsland, Ga. 31548.

William Tanner
Marine Pfc. William C. Tanner, son of William C. and Donna D. Tanner of 2624 Pontoon Road, recently reported for duty with the 7th Marine Expeditionary Brigade at Twenty-nine Palms, Calif.

A 1988 graduate of Granite City High School, Tanner joined the Marine Corps in June 1988.

Gregory Stenitzer
Cadet Gregory M. Stenitzer received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp at Fort Riley, Kan.

Stenitzer is the son of Beatrice J. Stenitzer of 1009 Grand Ave., Madison, and a 1988 graduate of Christian Brothers College High School in Clayton, Mo.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management and survival training.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army, Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet.

James Jackson
Tech Sgt. James G. Jackson has graduated from an Air Force major command non-commissioned officer academy.

The sergeant's wife, Diane, is the daughter of Joseph D. and Dolores Parente of 9 Devon Hill Lane.

He is a 1976 graduate of Granite City High School—South and received an associate degree in 1984 from the Community College of the Air Force.

At the academy, Jackson received advanced military leadership and management training.

He is a ground radio communications technician with Headquarters, Military Air Lift Command at Scott Air Force Base, Belleville.

William Hogan
Lt. Col. William Michael Hogan, son of Elton B. and Mae Hogan of 3000 Wayne Ave., has graduated from the Air War College, the U.S. Air Force's senior professional military school.

The 10-month course at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., prepares officers for higher command and staff duty by broadening their understanding of military strategy in support of national security policy.

Hogan also completed requirements for a master's degree. His wife, Angela, is the daughter of retired Army Lt. Col. and Mrs. George B. (Anna S.) Thomson of Frankfort, Ky.

The officer graduated in 1989 from Granite City High School and received a master's degree in 1975 from Central Michigan University at Mount Pleasant.

St. Louis-area actors appear with Selleck

By Harry Hamm
Staff writer

Two men from the St. Louis area are working beside Tom Selleck in "An Innocent Man," a film opening Oct. 6.

One is 32-year-old Bruce A. Young, a 1974 graduate of Brentwood High School who now lives in Chicago. The other is Belleville native David Rasche.

In the film, Selleck plays a man sent to prison for a crime he did not commit. Young plays the role of Jingles, a particularly nasty convict; Rasche plays Mike Farnell, a dishonest narcotics detective.

"I'd love to come back to St. Louis and work at the Rep or somewhere, but no one from my hometown ever calls," said Young, whose mother, Shelly, still lives in St. Louis.

"I first became interested in acting when I was a kid and saw a sign at the Brentwood Community Center that was advertising a children's theater group. I just went and talked to them and that's how I got started."

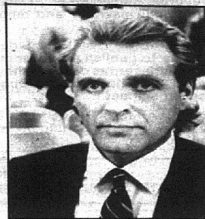

Rasche, an accomplished film, stage and television actor who starred on the television comedy, "Sledge Hammer," is quick to tout his links to St. Louis.

"I was born and grew up in Belleville," Rasche said. "My father attended Eden Seminary in Webster Groves. My grandfather had a church, St. Peter's, in St. Louis. And my uncle Carl used to be the administrator of Deaconess Hospital."

But he is less talkative about other subjects. When asked his age, Rasche replied, "It's undetermined."

Muny '89 figures mirror '88. The Muny operated at 61 percent of the theater's capacity of 11,567, attracting 323,727 patrons on average at attendance of 7,038 for the 46 performances. In 1988, the theater achieved 60 percent capacity, drawing 339,239 patrons for an average of 6,923 patrons for 49 performances.

There were three rain outs this year; none in 1988. "Annie," the show that garnered the worst reviews and was considered by most to be the worst production, averaged the highest per performance attendance: 8,225. The worst attendance average—5,027 patrons per performance—was for Broadway's longest running hit, "A Chorus Line." "Gypsy" starring Tyne Daly, also performed poorly, with a 6,561 per-performance average that exceeded only "A Chorus Line."

...was for Broadway's longest running hit, "A Chorus Line." "Gypsy" starring Tyne Daly, also performed poorly, with a 6,561 per-performance average that exceeded only "A Chorus Line."

Following "Annie" in the performance attendance standings were: "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," 7,773; "Evita," 7,322; "The King and I," 7,207; and "Godspell," 7,001.

Goodman out to the ballgame John Goodman, the former St. Louisan who stars in the hit television series, "Roseanne," has been a frequent guest this season of the St. Louis Cardinals at Busch Stadium, said Marty Hendin, Cardinals vice president of marketing.

"The last time he was here was Aug. 16 when we played Atlanta," Hendin said.

"He's just like a kid. He was excited when he got to visit the broadcast booth. He really flipped out when we let him on the field during batting practice."

Rivers returns, Oprah relocates. New weekday fare on local stations includes Joan Rivers' new talk show at 9 a.m. on Channel 2; a new time slot for "Win, Lose or Draw" at 10 a.m. on Channel 4, followed by a new show called "Third Degree" at 10:30 a.m. and the "People's Court" program, now at 4 p.m.

Harry Hamm is entertainment editor for both KMOX-AM (1120) and the CBS Radio Network.

Keyboard master Feinstein comes to Powell Hall Sept. 20

By Frank Hunter
Staff writer

When the piano is a nine footer, with a name like Steinway, Baldwin or Bosendorfer, and the player is the celebrated singer-pianist Michael Feinstein, look for joy and rapture unrestrained as a young Lechivaur claims as his territory the witty words and music of the 1920s, '30s and '40s.

Few entertainers have steeped themselves in yesteryears' melodies and made it pay. But Feinstein, who began playing by ear at age five in his home in Columbus, Ohio, is the reigning monarch of Manhattan's sophisticated saloons and cabarets.

Now 33, Feinstein comes to Powell Hall at 8 p.m. Sept. 20 in "A Little Night Music," a one-man show benefitting the AIDS Foundation of St. Louis.

The gala represents a personal triumph for Michael Edlin, a St. Louis interior designer and foundation president.

Edlin is an AIDS sufferer who worked two years convincing Feinstein's agent that the St. Louis organization merited an appearance by the superstar.

At a time when most kids were turning the family upright into a downright nuisance with discordant plinkety plunking, Feinstein was hammering out heady rhythms from the scores of Broadway shows and collecting old 78 RPM records by legendary performers Al Jolson, Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire.

These three stars strongly influenced Feinstein's rather reedy vocal stylings.

But when the boyish, tuxedoed Feinstein parks himself at the keyboard of Powell Hall's gleaming concert grand and starts crooning "Isn't It Romantic?" (with nary an orchestra nor line of dancing girls offering backup support), the legacy of civilized American show tunes will come alive again for those who really care.

But Feinstein is not strictly a saloon entertainer. He has toured Europe with friend and mentor Liza Minnelli and played an all-Gershwin concert at the Hollywood Bowl with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

His highly successful Broadway show "Michael Feinstein in Concert" was lauded by critic Clive Barnes, who wrote eloquently of Feinstein's gift for reassembling and redefining older pop styles and giving them a contemporary, personalized imprint.

It was an Andre Kostelanetz recording of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" he heard at age 12 that touched Feinstein as

Smith warns 0-2 Trojans to shape up

By Mike Kelly

Correspondent
MADISON — Shape up or ship out.

That's the motto Trojan football coach Don Smith will employ for the remainder of this season. Madison (0-2) will be trying to nail down its first win of the year at Pittsfield on Friday.

"I'm not pussyfooting around anymore," said Smith. "We've got to start applying the right attitude around here if we're going to salvage anything out of this season. Our performance at Columbia last week wasn't too bad, but it could have been better. We're just making too many mental mistakes at crucial times."

"The reason for that is simple. These guys want to play football, but they don't want to sacrifice their time coming to practice. So from now on, if any player doesn't show up to practice, he can just turn in his uniform."

"We must stress the team concept. And I don't want to hear of the excuse of injuries. That's part of the game a player must accept. Too many of these guys complain about minor bumps and bruises so they can get out of practice to go home and watch cartoons. If we were half as tough as we talk, we wouldn't be 0-2. Everyone has an excuse."

There were some bright spots at Columbia last week. The Trojans moved the ball impressively on their first possession and scored to take the early lead. Demarco Cason, making his debut at fullback, picked up 34 yards on eight carries.

"Demarco did all right for never having played the position before," said Smith. "But we still lacked power in our option. I was expecting to chew up a lot of yardage outside, but we could only make three to four yards a crack."

"The problem is inexperience on the offensive line. They didn't come off the snap quickly enough and it threw our timing off. Those guys up front are still learning their positions. But I'm not afraid to go with the same idea this week."

"Also to help our running game a little more, we're going to try a few passes to loosen things up. Last week Columbia saw we couldn't pass, so they stacked up the line of scrimmage on us."

Greg Voloski, who's been hampered by a thumb injury, will miss Friday's game because he played sparingly last week and aggravated his injury. He should be ready to go next week at Breese Central.

"That's the big loss for us," said Smith. "He's a big asset to our young linemen. But one guy I thought stepped forward last week was sophomore Warren Kostencki. He's really learning the center position and is starting to feel comfortable there."

Unfortunately, Kostencki was wrongly named as the culprit who made the bad snap on the punt attempt that set up Columbia's go-ahead touchdown. "Warren wasn't in on that play," said Smith. "Believe it or not, Ira Rockett, our quarterback, is the special teams center because he can give us the long snaps. But with the way Kostencki's coming along, he should be handling all the centering chores from now on."

Madison, which was 0-2 at this time a year ago, beat Pittsfield 18-15 at home.

"We just pulled off an upset last year," said Smith. "Pittsfield is a strong traditional football school that possesses a great deal of size. Sure, they were 1-8 last year, but look at their schedule. They don't play any cream puffs. You could say we're the only weak team they'll play all year. It'll be a physical game. And I'm really concerned about the long trip (a two-hour drive) and how it'll effect our game."

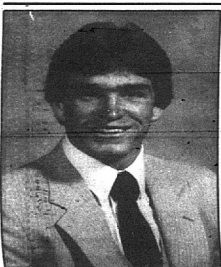

"Madison is a team with unlimited potential," said Pittsfield coach Curt Simonson. "They're very fast and have a great amount of quickness. We gave them 61 offensive plays last year, and you can't do that against a team with the athletic ability of Madison."

"But the long trip could hurt them. It all depends how much travel they tend to leave their game on the bus."

Pittsfield, which defeated Louisiana, Mo., 15-14 last week, is 1-1. Friday's game will also be the final meeting between the two schools.

"I'm not ready to throw the towel in yet," said Smith. "But we've got to start playing better. The potential is there and our schedule isn't that tough. At one time, I felt a 6-3 record and making the playoffs were a possibility. But thinking things over, I feel reaching the .500 mark is a serious goal for this season."

Sam Tate gets coaching job
Sam Tate coaching at Springfield H.S.

Sam Tate, a 1984 graduate of Granite City High School, has been hired as an assistant soccer coach at Springfield High School. Tate went to Sangamon State University in Springfield and graduated from there in 1988 with a bachelor's degree in business management. He was the most valuable player of the Prairie Stars' 1987 team which took third in the NAIA tournament in Texas.

Sangamon State won the national title in 1986 and took second in the World Collegiate Championships in Las Cruces, N.M. Tate was also on two gold-medal winning Prairie State Games teams.

Tate, who is working on his master's degree in business administration, is employed by the Illinois Commerce Commission. He will be assisting Tony Eck at Springfield High. The Senators played the Warriors in last fall's sectional final, which Granite City won 5-0.

Tate will also be the head junior varsity coach for Springfield. He has appeared in the annual edition of the American College Athletes Hall of Fame.

Volleyball leagues are now being formed by the Granite City Park District.

A new power volleyball league will be played at Coolidge Junior High School will be started if there is enough interest. There will be a women's league and a men's league. There would be a 10-week schedule with the tentative starting date in late October.

Call Babe Champion at the Wilson Park office (877-3059) for more information.

Broomball leagues forming at park

The Granite City Park District is planning a co-ed broomball league to be played on Sunday evenings at 5 and 6 p.m.

A men's broomball league will play on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Anyone interested in forming a team or managers from last year should call Babe Champion at the Wilson Park office at 877-3059.

Basketball officials needed for parks

Basketball officials are needed for the fall and winter leagues sponsored by the Granite City Park District.

Clinics will be held and anyone wishing to officiate will be trained in a Rules and Mechanics School. There is a real need for young people to get interested in officiating. Interested persons should call Babe Champion at 877-3059.

Local judo player Allen Kirgan will be the instructor of a new judo class being offered at the Tri-City Area YMCA.

The class will be held for youths 6 and over on Monday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. beginning Sept. 18. Kirgan will also teach a class for anyone 14 and older on Saturdays at 11:30 a.m. beginning Sept. 23. Both classes will be held at the YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave. For more information, call 876-7200.

Soccer tryouts this Saturday at Grigsby

The Illinois Girls State Select Soccer Program will be having a tryout for the 1990 state teams at Grigsby Junior High School this Saturday.

The first-time fee is $20 and other preliminary tryouts must be attended at no additional cost. A final tryout, consisting of girls selected through the preliminaries, will be held Oct. 21 in Springfield. The final tryout is by invitation only and will cost $10.

Saturday's tryouts will be at held at the following times: Under 18 from 8:30-11, Under 16 from 11:30-3, Under 14 from 1:30-4 p.m.

For more information, call head coach Gene Briggs at 876-4719 or assistant coach Mike Schmalz at 312-991-9755.

Park district has co-ed volleyball

Adults interested in Co-Ed volleyball should contact Babe Champion at the Wilson Park office.

Leagues are being formed to be played at the Lincoln Place Community Center to begin in late October. Teams from last year, as well as new teams, should call Champion, the recreation supervisor, at 877-3059 for more information. Organizational meetings will be held at a later date.

Derek Strong

Robert Brooksher Jr.

Two local youths win Jr. Archway

Derek Strong, 16, a junior at Granite City High School, rolled a 300 game in the Major/Minor Scratch League at Bowland Lanes recently.

Derek, the son of Ken and Carla Strong, also captured his first title in the Classic Division of the Junior Archway at AMF Dick Weber Lanes on Aug. 13. Strong has been in the junior program at Bowland for the past five years.

Robert Brooksher Jr., 12, also won first place in the Major Division of the Junior Archway. Robert is in eighth grade at Goodlaid Junior High School. He had a 196 average and has been bowling at Bowland for the last three years, competing in four Junior Archway tournaments.

To be eligible for Junior Archway, a bowler must have a 150 or better average and bowl in a regularly sanctioned junior league. The tournaments are conducted on a scratch basis with head-to-head competition determining the champions. All finalists receive trophies and final placement determines the number of points carried towards the Bowler of the Year awards given each year.

Bowland summer

Bowland Lanes has announced the winners of the summer programs.

Taking first in the Bump N Bowl League were the Alley Cats. Team members were Leighann Moore, Lindsay Moore, Sheldon Murphy and Amanda West. High average went to Brandon Rollins (87) and Camille Sanders (82). High series went to Brandon Rollins (176) and Heather Holland (177). High game went to Sheldon Murphy (112) and Jessica Irie (101).

Taking first in the Wednesday Have A Ball A League were the Alley Cats. Team members were Amy and Robby Grady, Amanda Pond and Erin Weaver. High average went to Robbie Pickering (107) and Amy Grady (107). High series went to Robby Grady (376) and Jondalay Cozair (360). High game went to Robbie Pickering (148) and Anna Pieper (121).

Taking first in the Wednesday Have A Ball B League were the Lucky Strikes. Team members were Steven Schroeder, David Moore, Christopher Stump and Matthew Stump. High average went to Bryan Jones (123) and Crystal Timmons (141). High series went to Kevin Clark (457) and Amanda Timmons (421). High game went to David Cook (191) and Katherine Gregory (145).

Football

"They didn't have any real sustained drives on offense. They had a flea flicker which set up one touchdown and got another when Cahokia fumbled close to its own goal line."

Biegler (8-11, 230) will likely see most of the quarterbacking duties, although fellow senior Chris Eckert has also taken snaps.

"We're still mostly a running team," said Arnold. "Jim Howell has done a good job, but he has a sprained neck this week."

"We've really played two contrasting teams so far. CBK showed a lot of motion and threw the ball a lot, while Cahokia had all that quickness with their running backs."

The Maroons lost 18-0 to CBC, although that was just a practice game as West also won a forfeit from Quincy.

"We improved as the CBC game went on," said Arnold. "Our special teams hurt us in that one. They returned some punts a long way, but we've improved there."

"I'm sure Granite City will be fired up. Both teams want to win their first conference game and get going. I think we became a different team after we finally scored last week."

"Bruce has gone three years in a row with only two wins," said Yates. "So they will come in here pumped up. We're going to have to stretch the field vertically and throw a little more because they flow laterally to the ball-very well."

Warrior quarterback Bobby Thomas completed a couple of clutch passes on the two scoring drives Saturday. And the offensive line came together in the fourth quarter.

"Larry Hahne had a poor first quarter, but once he got his feet wet and got into the game he did a great job," Yates said of the senior center who missed the Cahokia game with an injury. "And we got some nice runs from Mike Mueller and Terry Noud. Terry has a little track speed that's nice to see."

"And our defense really hustled. That long pass that set up Roosevelt's touchdown was out of bounds after we saw it on the films. Then our fumble set up their other score. So the defense wasn't that far from getting a shutout."

Getting a win Friday could set up a good streak for the Warriors since Collinsville comes in next week. The Kahoks are one team Granite City can always compete with on at least even terms.

"The attitude has always been good," Yates said. "They knew we ran out of gas at Cahokia. So we ran a lot last week and we are this week, too. They were asking for more sprints. We're running 20 40s each day."

Soccer

the foul call. Granite City is very good at capitalizing on those plays. Their restarts are always effective."

Richardson iced it with his first varsity goal, again off a restart. The Warriors had a corner kick and Van Biskirk got the assist when the rebound of his attempt went to Richardson, who volleyed it into the top corner at 73:55.

"That was it," said Aleman. "You can always hope to get a break as long as it's 1-0, but getting behind by two goals here is very hard."

The Lancers, who usually field very competitive teams, they handed the 1987 state champion Warriors their only conference loss, have had tough luck in their 0-6 start.

"We should have won two or three of those games," said Aleman. "We've lost three in overtime. There just isn't anybody up front to find the goal. We've got a kid who has been a goalie playing up front, so we're just drawing out of a hat for now."

Volleyball

now. But it's still early in the season, and my only concern is not to peak too soon. As of now, our girls are working very hard to earn every point and every match. We have the ability to apply the killer instinct in a match.

"I thought Granite City was a hustling team with some pretty good hitters. But their timing was off in certain situations. As soon as they get their act together, they're going to be tough to beat."

"I think we'll bounce back," said Buster. "We're a young team still learning the new system we've applied. But the more we play, the more experience we'll get. Unfortunately, we didn't show up mentally tonight, and that'll happen to young teams now and then. But we play East St. Louis next and I'm looking forward to the challenge."

NOTES: The Lady Warriors traveled to East St. Louis tonight. The junior varsity didn't fare much better Tuesday, losing 15-13 and 15-5.
